CORAY INVESTIGATION WILL EXTEND TO OFFICE OF WATER COMMISSIONER

According to Chairman Clark, Examination of Davis' Books will Be Made in Checking up Coray, and There's Hangs a Tale.

THE OFFICE OF WATER COMMISSIONER DAVIS WILL BE INVESTIGATED IN CONNECTION WITH THAT OF CITY BUILDING INSPACTOR CORAY.

This is the statement made by Chairman E. H. CLARK of the finance committee Wednesday and REITERATED BY HIM LAST NIGHT.

The dealings between the two offices, and especially the peculiar features surrounding the issuing of tapping permits, will be gone into.

BUILDING INSPECTOR CORAY CHARGES THAT IRREGULARITIES HAVE EXISTED IN THE OFFICE OF THE WATER COMMISSIONER.

The city treasurer receives the receipts from the water commissioner's office and his office is being directed at the methods prevailing in the office of water commissioner.

An attempt made yesterday to belittle the investigation because of the campaign and the approach of the city election led to flagrant misquoting and misstatements by the Telegraph.

CHAIRMAN CLARK IN A STATEMENT LAST EVENING DENIED THE INTERVIEW ATTRIBUTED TO HIM AS IT APPEARED IN THE TELEGRAPH.

"The Telegraph is wrong in its interview attributed to me. The Gazette is correct in its statement that Davis' office will be investigated in connection with that of Coray's. I told the Telegraph reporter that no investigation had been ordered of the office of Water Commissioner Davis or City Treasurer Veeder's, as a whole, but that the tapping department of the water commissioner's office will be gone over. The misunderstanding seems to have arisen over the impression that the finance committee would order an official investigation of all of Mr. Davis' official acts in connection with the city, since his incumbency of the office of water commissioner. The investigation, as the Gazette said, concerns the tapping department of Mr. Davis' office the department closely in touch with the building inspector's office. Of course, during the progress of the investigation Mr. Bach may see something else leading to the investigation of other matters but that is a contingency to be determined by what is developed." E. H. Clark, chairman of the finance committee of the city council.

The interview appearing in the Gazette of yesterday morning was given by E. H. Clark, chairman of the finance committee of the city council. It is explanatory, going into the matter of charges in connection with the issuing of tapping permits by the water commissioner, which will be checked up during the investigation.

"Had the water commissioner or the treasurer been conducting their offices as they should," said a member of the finance committee, "the irregularities in the office of the city building inspector could not have continued. The water commissioner must report to the city treasurer the receipts from water rent. Coray had absolutely no right to collect water rents and negligence on the part of the water commissioner is plainly shown because of the fact that he knew as his office knew what new buildings were being erected. All tapping permits—that is, permits allowing the builder or plumber of any new structure to make connection with the water mains are issued by the water commissioner and no one else. It stands to reason that the water commissioner knew that the rents for the construction work must come in following each tapping permit, and it appears that he should have been aware of the alleged embezzlement in Coray's office."

CHAIRMAN CLARK ATTESTED TO THE CORRECTNESS OF THE INTERVIEW WITH HIM AFTER READING IT OVER AGAIN LAST EVENING.

Contractors and builders are still coming to the members of the finance committee with checks paid for water rent to Coray, but which were not acknowledged by receipts or permits. Chairman Clark of the committee yesterday received six checks from one contractor who stated he had given them to Coray but had not received permits therefor.

There is much possible evidence accumulating against Coray in the shape of checks unaccompanied by any acknowledgment, whatever. As soon as Accountant Bach finishes the abstracts he is making of the building permits issued by Coray he will begin checking and will then give his attention to the tapping department of the water commissioner's office. As stated in the Gazette yesterday, the course of procedure in examining if Davis has been cognizant of the peculations of Coray will be determined, in great measure, by the findings of Accountant Bach in the checking of the books of the two offices.

Water Commissioner Davis has been informed that his books will be checked up in connection with those of Coray and stated yesterday all records of his office will be turned over whenever desired. The following statement was made by Mr. Davis yesterday in reply to charges in regard to the tapping department of his office:

Davis Makes Statement.

"Tapping is where an injection is made in the water main in order to make connection with the premises and when application is made for a tapping permit it does not necessarily mean that a new building is going up. How should this office know what every permit wanted was to be used for?

"The collection by Coray of water rents on construction work was a custom established before I came into office and it being the custom I let it continue, not questioning that the returns would be made honestly. I came into office in May 1901. Coray had been in office a year at that time.

"I am not liable, under the ordinance and in this matter of rent collections my skirts are cleared.

Quotes Ordinance.

"Article XVI of the ordinance passed April 15, 1901, defines the duties of the water commissioner. It reads as follows:

"Section 1. There is hereby created the office of water commissioner.

"It shall be the duty of the water commissioner to collect water rents and give receipts therefor, also to enforce the ordinance in reference to water consumers, collect all fines, give notice of turning off and turning on water and have full charge of the office and of all books pertaining to the department. He shall issue all tapping permits and shall turn over to the city treasurer every night all moneys collected therefor. The water commissioner shall not have any control over the operation of the waterworks system except as herein provided, he shall work in connection with the superintendent of waterworks and shall always be under his supervision in the operating of the water system. The superintendent of waterworks shall furnish the water commissioner all information necessary in regard to stop cocks and valves and shall furnish him all assistance necessary in turning off and turning on water. The water commissioner shall receive an annual salary of $1,200 payable in monthly installments."

Mr. Davis continued:

"I have lived up to the provisions of the ordinance and I think my record will be clear on this point."

Coray and Clark.

It is conceded that Coray had no right to collect water rental on construction work and that those who paid the fee to him were in the position of a party to a private or personal transaction.

"This may be true," said Chairman Clark, "but it does not alter the fact that Coray is an officer in the city and as such is accountable to the city in the handling of its funds or fund accepted by him as an officer.

Chairman Clark of the finance committee of the city council, in view of the trouble facing the committee from irregularities in city offices, and other matters connected with the Coray investigation is advocating the creation of a new office, to be known as city comptroller.

"I have been thinking seriously of a possible solution to such trouble in the future," said Mr. Clark. "It is to have an overseer of all offices in the city government, especially of those having the handling of the public funds, this supervisory office to be known as the comptroller. At certain periods he would check up the office in a thorough investigation, he would check the auditor, treasurer, the water department, etc., and this I believe would obviate trouble such as we are having at present."

THE PRESIDENT'S SPEECH ON THE MONROE DOCTRINE

Receives Enthusiastic Welcome in Chicago Last Night—Urges Strong Navy as Best Guarantee of Peace.

By Associated Press.

Chicago, April 3. Six thousand people in a hall, the seating capacity of which is but 5,000, gave encouragement to President Roosevelt when he stepped upon the stage of the Auditorium tonight. The great building has held many a throng but never one that was more unstinted in its applause for any man than the crowd that filled it tonight. From the first floor to the roof it was packed to its utmost capacity, every seat was occupied and although the aisles were kept clear all the spaces in the lobbies and on the stairways was taken, and even the passageways leading to the hall from the lower floor were jammed with hundreds of men who were utterly unable to hear a word of the president's address. All that came to them was the roar of applause from within and with such loyal tongues did they accept their cue that several times they were giving vent to cheers when those on the inside had died away and the president had resumed his address. Twice during the evening Chief of Police O'Neill was compelled to send word to the patriots without the door that they must cheer in better time or he would be compelled to clear the stairway.

Immense Crowds in Street.

In the street outside for more than an hour before the time set for the opening of the president's address small squadrons of policemen were kept busy. Thousands of people filled Wabash avenue in the rear of the Auditorium jammed Michigan avenue in front of it and blockaded to the best of its ability Congress street which runs at the side of it. The officers were stretched in double line along all the walks immediately adjoining the building and no person who could not exhibit credentials entitling him to admission to the hall was permitted upon the walk. The jam at the doors of the hall for 40 minutes preceding the time at which the president was to open his address was of a character to test the patience of the police without and within.

Enthusiastic Greeting.

When the president escorted by the members of the local committee appeared on the platform, he was met with great enthusiasm, the vast crowd rising to its feet and supplementing the hearty cheers with waving programs and fluttering handkerchiefs.

The president acknowledged his reception with repeated bows and took his seat between Franklin MacVeagh the chairman of the committee and Mayor Harrison. As soon as his voice could be heard Mr. MacVeagh in a few words announced that the nation's chief executive would be made welcome to the city by Mayor Harrison, who then spoke briefly extending to the president a hearty welcome and expressing the pleasure felt by the people of Chicago at his visit and offering to him their best wishes for a happy and pleasant trip during his two months of vacation. The president bowed his thanks to Mayor Harrison and to Mr. MacVeagh, who introduced him to his audience and expressed his pleasure at the cordial reception extended to him on the first stop of his long trip and then turning directly to the audience in front of him proceeded to his peculiarly direct manner to deliver his address. He had some difficulty in commencing for the reason that the cheers that had greeted his first appearance in the hall burst forth with renewed vigor and it was several minutes before he was able to proceed. The address the audience was received in the most cordial manner and with as much approval for the manner in which it was delivered as for the matter which it contained.

The President's Address.

The address was as follows:

Mr. Chairman, Fellow Citizens:

Today I wish to speak to you not merely about the Monroe doctrine but about our entire position in the western hemisphere. In addition to what I said recently about the acceptance of the Monroe doctrine as a cardinal feature of our foreign policy, and in particular I wish to point out what has been done during the lifetime of the last congress to make good our position in accordance with the historic policy.

Ever since the time when we definitely extended our boundaries west to the Pacific and south to the gulf, since the time when the old Spanish and Portuguese colonies to the south of us asserted their independence, our nation has insisted that because of its primacy in strength among the nations of the western hemisphere it has certain duties and responsibilities which oblige it to take a leading part therein. We hold that our interests in this hemisphere are greater than those of any European power, possibly can be, and that our duty to ourselves and to the weaker republics who are our neighbors requires us to see that none of the great military powers from across the seas shall encroach upon the territory of the American republics or acquire control therein.

This policy therefore not only forbids us to endorse such a criminal acquisition but does not entitle us to the acquirement of a control which would in the end be equal to a total aggrandizement. This is why the United States has steadily insisted that the construction of the great isthmian canal, the building of which is to stand as the greatest material feat of the twentieth century, must be under similar conditions to that which the nation but ourselves. The canal must be, of necessity, go through the territory of one of our smaller sister republics. We have been scrupulously careful to abstain from perpetrating any wrong upon any of these republics in the matter. We do not wish to interfere with their rights in the least, but while carefully safeguarding them to build the canal we must see that conditions which will enable us to do so, if necessary to police and protect the canal and the approaches thereto, are established by the consent of the government of the canal zone.

We have been at great pains to show our entire good faith in the matter of the canal. We have made a treaty with the republic of Panama which we believe to be in every way to the interest of the people of the isthmus and to the interest of the world at large. We have kept the faith of the nation with the government of Colombia, which has been at times in a state of chronic revolution, and we have refused to take any action in the matter of the revolution which would have been inconsistent with our treaty rights or with our duty as the guardian of peace on the isthmus. We have not been to blame for the fact that the revolution did not succeed, and we have not been to blame for the fact that it did succeed. We have not been responsible for the revolution, we have not been responsible for the quelling of the revolution, we have not been responsible for the establishment of the new government of Panama, we have not been responsible for the fact that the government of Colombia has not been able to come to an agreement with the government of Panama. We have simply been careful to see that our treaty rights were not violated, and that the canal should be built as soon as possible, consistently with the rights of the people of the isthmus and of the world at large.

We have not been to blame for the fact that the canal has not been begun. We have been ready to begin it at any time for the last two years, but we have been waiting for the completion of the preliminaries which we had arranged should be completed before we began the work. We have been ready to begin it as soon as the government of Colombia, which has been in a state of chronic revolution, and which has been at times in a state of war with itself, could be induced to carry out the agreement it had made with us. We have been ready to begin it as soon as the government of Panama, which we helped to establish, could be induced to carry out the agreement it had made with us. We have been ready to begin it as soon as we could be sure that the canal would be built by us in accordance with our agreement with Panama, and that it would not be used by us to the detriment of the rights of any nation which we had no right to injure, by the circumstances surrounding its construction, to injure. We have been ready to begin it as soon as we could be sure that the canal would be used by us in accordance with the demands of civilization and in the interest of the people of America and of the world at large.

Objects Exactly Fulfilled.

Accordingly but three out of the three objects have been exactly fulfilled by the legislation and treaties of the last two years. Two years ago, with the exception of the isthmian canal, the world was in the same position it had been during the preceding years. By the Hay-Pauncefote treaty we fulfilled our duty to Great Britain, with which we had been for years on terms of the closest friendship and intimacy, and we did so in such a way as to do no wrong to our own people. By the treaty with Colombia we fulfilled our duty to the people of the isthmus and to the world at large, in such a way that we could not be accused of having taken any unfair advantage of our own people, or of having taken any unfair advantage of Colombia, or of having failed to do our duty to the people of the isthmus and to the world at large. We have not been to blame for the fact that the canal has not been begun. We have been ready to begin it at any time for the last two years, but we have been waiting for the completion of the preliminaries which we had arranged should be completed before we began the work. We have been ready to begin it as soon as the government of Colombia, which has been in a state of chronic revolution, and which has been at times in a state of war with itself, could be induced to carry out the agreement it had made with us. We have been ready to begin it as soon as the government of Panama, which we helped to establish, could be induced to carry out the agreement it had made with us. We have been ready to begin it as soon as we could be sure that the canal would be built by us in accordance with our agreement with Panama, and that it would not be used by us to the detriment of the rights of any nation which we had no right to injure, by the circumstances surrounding its construction, to injure. We have been ready to begin it as soon as we could be sure that the canal would be used by us in accordance with the demands of civilization and in the interest of the people of America and of the world at large.

TRIAL JURY SECURED AND TESTIMONY OF PREVIOUS SEVEN IN THE STRATTON WILL CASE

Night Sessions Will Be Held so That the Case May Be Completed in Time Provided by New Act of Legislature, and There Will Be No Postponement of Trial.

The trial jury in the Stratton will contest was completed yesterday. It will have in its make-up seven laboring men, two farmers and three business men.

These men will determine the fate of the Stratton millions.

Daniel E. Davis, fireman	Z. D. Brandt, painter
E. V. Cammel (colored), laborer	G. W. Meads, farmer
H. Glotfelter, carpenter	S. J. McMillen, farmer
William Baldwin, laborer	E. G. Howard, real estate agent
Alexander Green, transfer employ	W. G. Williams, coal dealer
M. Bontempella, coal heaver	J. H. Shafer, carriage painter

Yesterday was a memorable day in the progress of the Stratton will contest. The jury was completed, the attorneys for the estate were victorious in securing the first and last address to the jury, and it was agreed to proceed with the trial of the suit and hold night sessions if necessary in order to complete the case within this term.

Yesterday's session lasted from 9:30 in the morning till 7.15 in the evening, there being more work crowded into the day than into any previous day since the beginning of the trial.

The morning session was devoted entirely to arguments on the question presented with it the right to make the opening address to the jury. The consideration of these arguments, the court with reluctance decided and the contestants with the possible postponement. The evening session, which began at 8:00 o'clock until 7:15, was taken up with the peremptory challenges of the sides and the consideration of the jury.

The question of the postponement of the trial on account of the fact that a time within which the jury should all others, and the obligations, and the court of the closing term of the court was being approached, the attorneys for the contestants, in consideration, decided that further proceedings should be postponed, and the case was taken up.

The court decided that the opening address of the attorneys for the contestants should be made to the jury, and the court granted the request of the attorneys for the contestants, and the opening address will be made to the jury. The evidence to be introduced in the opening address will be that relating to the will of the deceased. The evidence to the jury will be introduced as to the intention of the testator as to their opinion respecting the soundness or unsoundness of mind of the testator.

The Opening Address.

The opening address to the jury will be made by Henry W. McAllister for the estate, and, it is thought by ex-Senator Wolcott for the contestant.

The weeding out of eight of the jurors in the box, through the peremptory challenges of the respective sides reduced the number to 12, and those so left will constitute the trial jury. Much time was taken to deliberate on these challenges, the attorneys for the estate consulting with Exalted Ruler R. L. Holland of the Elks, whose wide acquaintance with the people of Colorado Springs gave him an insight into the past history of nearly every member of the jury. The attorneys for the contestant consulted with Judge Hurlburt, who is an attorney of record on that side, and it was his judgment which largely determined the names which were stricken off by them. The personnel of the jury box was changed by the excuse of two of the original ones accepted, by the time the peremptory challenges were made.

G. W. Dickey, the veterinary surgeon, was excused, upon request, for the reason that his business required his personal attention, and C. W. Fairchild of 501 North Nevada avenue, was excused on account of sickness. Their places were filled respectively by L. H. Shafer, 50 years of age, a carriage trimmed, living at 2021 North Tejon street, and J. A. Butts, 54 years old, a nursery agent, living at 818 East Cheyenne street. In all other respects the jury box remained the same as announced yesterday.

The challenges as handed in by the attorneys for the estate were: W. F. Ridenour, Robert Knowles, F. S. Bennett and William T. Kat on. Those handed in by the attorneys for the contestant were L. B. Hamel, Gust Recker, J. A. Butts and Andrew B. Pierce.

This leaved the jury consisting of the following: Daniel E. Davis, E. V. Cammel (colored), H. Glotfelter, G. W. Howard, Wm. Baldwin, G. M. Meads, W. G. Williams, L. H. Shafer, S. J. McMillan, Alexander Green, M. Bontempella and Z. D. Brandt.

Majority Are Laborers.

Thus 12 men will determine the fate of the Stratton millions. With the exception of five the jury is composed entirely of laboring men, five of these a farmer. Out of the five, two are

BIG DEMOCRATIC RALLY IN IOWA

W. J. Bryan and Former Vice President Stevenson Were the Principal Speakers—Continual Reference to Party Principles Was the Keynote of the Gathering.

By Associated Press.

Des Moines, Iowa, April 2.—Former Vice President Stevenson who spoke at the Jeffersonian banquet tonight closed his address with a reference to W. R. Hearst, which was taken by many who heard it as an indorsement of the New York man's boom for the Democratic presidential nomination. Mr. Stevenson said referring to the coming campaign:

"The appeal will be to the young men of our country upon whom will soon rest the burdens and responsibilities of the government. I am glad that so many young men are here tonight. I deeply regret the necessary absence of one who would have been an honored guest at this board, William R. Hearst, a splendid representative of the young Democracy, one who would be a welcome guest in any Democratic assemblage. Only those who bore the brunt of the last presidential contest know to the fullest of his untiring devotion to our cause and of his splendid service from the beginning to the close of that memorable struggle. As a representative in congress from the great metropolis and the greatest journalist of the age his field of usefulness is enlarged and the past is but an earnest of what he will yet accomplish for his party and his country."

By Associated Press.

Des Moines, Iowa, April 2. Three hundred Democrats attended the Jeffersonian banquet tonight and the demand for tickets could not be met. The attendance was representative of the Democratic party throughout the state. The principal speakers were W. J. Bryan and former Vice President A. E. Stevenson. W. R. Hearst, who had been announced speaker of the event sent a letter which was read in which he urged continued devotion by Democrats to the political principles of Jefferson. Mr. Stevenson, who spoke first, said in part:

"The difference which existed on the money question still exists, for while the Republicans are boasting that the money question is settled, money is tight in the great financial centers and the financiers of this country are resorting to extraordinary methods to get enough money into circulation to carry on business.

"On the trust question the same line of cleavage appears. The men who threatened a panic if their grip was restored now threaten a panic if the trusts are disturbed, and the trust magnates are casting about for a Democratic candidate so much like a Republican that the trusts can live easy no matter which candidate is elected.

"Reorganization means that the retreat means demoralization and disaster. From the low standpoint of expediency retreat could not be justified. The party polled nearly a million more votes in support of the Chicago and Kansas City platforms than were polled by Cleveland even before his political crimes were exposed.

"There is a sordidness about the arguments made by the reorganizers that ought to disgust any well-meaning or high-minded citizen. It is really insulting to a man to intimate that he thinks it is more important that we get control of the administration than that we administer power in accordance with Democratic principles and in the interest of people at large.

"To say that a right principle must be dropped because the party has suffered defeat in support of the principle is as ridiculous as it is cowardly."

Mr. Bryan referred to Governor Cummins as at the head of a protest in Iowa against the domination of the Republican party by the corporations and continued:

"He is going to try to graft the Iowa idea in the national Republican platform. While he seems determined to hold his place and while he may support the Republican ticket no matter how off on the domination of his party by corporations may be, he is encouraging his friends who are fighting for a tariff reform or railroad legislation will have an educational influence. His word will go in middle, even though he may recant rather than leave his party.

"Governor Cummins calls himself a Republican but by showing some sympathy with the people against the corporations he has proven that he is much more a Democrat than a member of the party that the men who finish 1896 who have lost faith of the support they had given to the Republican party and who now make their return to the party contingent upon the party's abandonment of the people's interests.

"Governor La Follette of Wisconsin has shown some divergence from the public methods. There are Republicans of the Indiana method who are at work and they encourage us to make common cause with us. We appeal to the awakening conscience of the people.

"The Democratic party is not organized as a gathering of Democrats without regard to differences of opinion as to party policy. But it is after consulting a meeting of Democrats of all shades of belief was found that a strong sentiment existed in favor of a platform of the principles of the Kansas City platform. Mr. Bryan attended the meeting and indorsed the movement.

"The Democracy of America does not want form or brother those principles. It wants the triumph of Democratic principles."

WORLD'S FAIR BILL PASSED BY THE HOUSE

After a Five Hours' Morning Session Just Before the Afternoon Session Began Two Cans Were Found to Have Been Placed Over the State from Grace.

By Associated Press.

Denver, April 2.—The house this morning killed the World's fair bill appropriating $150,000 for the Colorado exhibit. This afternoon it reconsidered the action and passed it on third reading. The vote in favor of the bill was 34, of whom 24 were Democrats and 10 Republicans. The Republicans were Dolph, Dunn, Gobin, Hillyer, Kimball, McServe, Morgan, Riley, Sanches and Slawson.

The house today passed the following bills on third reading: The Gannett bill requiring labels on convict-made goods, the game and forestry bill, the Lewis traveling library bill and the Nungle bill of consent bill. It killed Kelley's bill appropriating $12,500 for a storing reservoir in Montezuma county.

The senate passed on third reading the Burch bill appropriating $2,750 for the expenses of the senate election contests; the Moore eight-hour bill, which had been substituted for the Stephen bill; the Shireman bill taxing transient stocks of goods; the Belford brand bill; the Lowell estray bill. The Breckenridge bill for the election of United States senators by vote of the people was killed.

GRAND JURY WILL BE CALLED TODAY

Special Term of the District Court to Lead With the Charges That Have Been Made.

Special to the Gazette.

Pueblo, April 2.—It is now generally acknowledged that at the May term of the district court, either Judge Dixon or Judge Voorhees will call a grand jury to investigate a number of charges that have been made relative to the city and county affairs. It is probable that an open venire will be selected from names of men who will act fearlessly and without favor in the premises. A petition asking for a grand jury was circulated among the business men some weeks ago, but until today no definite statement that a jury would be called could be obtained.

It was announced in Bessemer today from an unofficial source that the C. F. & I. company had purchased the block known as Lakeside addition for the purpose of erecting a building thereon to be used as the general office of the company. Rumors have been current for more than a year that it was the intention of the company to move the general offices from Denver to Pueblo and there is general talk now in effect that the offices will be moved as soon as a building can be erected on the ground just purchased.

The first game of baseball to be played in the city by a local team will be next Sunday, April 5, when the C. F. & I. company aggregation will play the Colorado Springs league team. The local men have been practicing hard in anticipation of the game and friends are looking forward with joy to the coming game.

Pete Donley, a fireman employed at the Colorado Brick & Tile company's plant, was instantly killed at 1 o'clock this afternoon, and William Taylor, a machinist employed at the plant, was severely injured by being struck by a south bound D. & R. G. passenger train at the Twenty-first street crossing. According to the stories of a number of employes the two men were walking down the track on their return from dinner and stepping off one track to avoid an approaching train, stepped in front of the rapidly moving passenger train, the engineer of which had not time to stop before striking the two men. Donley is a single man, 33 years of age, and recently came to Pueblo from Laverne, Ia. Taylor, the injured man, lives with his family at the corner of Summit and Thirty-first streets.

Figures at the Pueblo postoffice compiled for the month of March, shows that the receipts of the office were $40,672.72. As the fiscal year of the government ends March 31, Postmaster John H. Mitchell will receive an increase of $100 in annual salary, the pay of postmasters being graded according to the revenue of the office.

GERMAN MEAT INSPECTION.

By Associated Press.

Berlin, April 2.—The last provisions of the meat inspection law of June 3, 1900, went into effect quietly yesterday at the ports and throughout the empire. This most far-reaching and sumptuary measure was put in operation piecemeal by occasional decrees, because of the ministry of the interior having to create the inspection machinery. Section 12, referring to canned meats and sausages, which became effective September 1, 1901, further reduced American imports in this line, but boracic cured beef had been coming in until March, though of late somewhat less than 200 tons per month, roughly valued at $70,000, were imported from America. The exporters will endeavor to cure beef without borax, and thus comply with the German law, which as it now appears by no means destroys the American meat trade here and it is not improbable that imports of this year will equal those of 1901, when the total valuation was about $2,000,000. Owing to high prices and insufficient home supplies more than three-quarters of the imports of American meats are preserved.

FATAL BALLOON ACCIDENT.

By Associated Press.

Budapest, April 2.—Three balloonists, ex-Deputy Ordody, Lieutenant Kral and M. Kubik, a brother of the member of the aller of that name, were fatally injured in a balloon accident today. While the balloon was being inflated, it suddenly broke away with the car containing the men named, and Captain Tolnay of the navy. M. Ordody fell out of the car to the roof of the factory. Lieutenant Kral punctured the balloon, which descended with great velocity, striking with such force that he and M. Kubik were horribly injured. Captain Tolnay was less seriously hurt.

POSTOFFICE ROBBED.

Wellington, Ohio, April 2.—The postoffice here was broken into last night, the safe dynamited and $1,500 in cash and stamps stolen. At a neighboring blacksmith shop the robbers secured all of the tools they wanted.

Special to the Gazette.

Denver, April 2.—Four more days remain for the transaction of business by the legislature. From now on every movement of this body will be watched with the keenest interest. The point at issue now is the eight-hour law. The house (Stephen) bill passed to the senate on third reading this morning, and has been transmitted to the house. In the event of the latter body not enacting this measure into a law, a deadlock seems inevitable. The general appropriation bills will be the ones to suffer. The Democratic senate has kept all its promises and party pledges. It is now the duty of the Republican house to do its share. To avoid going on record, the house majority at the instigation of corporation lobbyists has indulged in a series of calendars and other jobbing operations detrimental to the Moore eight-hour bill. Now that the Stephen bill has been returned to the house, with the same wording as the Moore bill, it is the duty of the house to either pass or kill the bill in open session. In the event of this not being done, evasion will be sought by a continuation of calendar juggling.

In the senate this morning considerable was accomplished. Adverse reports on two bills were approved. One was senate bill No. 170, for regulate building and loan associations and co-operative banking associations, and all other institutions receiving monthly or weekly installments on the co-operative plan. The other bill was senate bill No. 143, defining the duties of foreign life and accident insurance companies, in relation to payment of policies and losses. The reports recommended that the bill be indefinitely postponed on account of the senate resolution recommending that only house bills be considered.

Passed on Third Reading.

The following bills were passed on third reading:

Senate bill No. 258, Barela, to appropriate money for expenses of contests in the state senate. A lively fight is expected on this bill in the house.

House bill No. 239, Shireman, as amended by senate concerning the taxation of transit stocks of goods.

House bill No. 135, Belford, as amended by senate, concerning branding and pounding of live stock.

House bill No. 130, Lowell, as amended by senate, concerning estray animals.

At the afternoon session there was a lively debate over the report of the committee of the whole to kill representatives Breckenridge's bill providing for the election of United States senators and representatives of the general assembly to be followed when considering the election of United States senators. The bill was finally killed. The following bills passed the committee of the whole:

House bill No. 210, by Mr. McKenzie, compelling support of wives and children and providing heavy penalties for non-support.

House bill No. 231, by McKenzie, compelling support of parents.

House bill No. 234, Watson, in relation to municipal corporations. In all 11 house bills passed the committee of the whole in the senate today.

To Consolidate Courts.

The first constitutional amendment passed by the Fourteenth general assembly went through the house today. Only a few very small corrections were made. It was senate bill No. 3, by Senator Taylor, and provides for the consolidation of the supreme court and court of appeals. Qualified electors will have the bill submitted for their approval at the next general election. The bill provides that the supreme court shall consist of seven judges, who shall be elected in districts for a term of 10 years. On the first Wednesday in April, 1905, the seven judges shall cease to exist and the judges of the district court whose terms shall not then have expired, shall become judges of the supreme court. Judge Thompson will not become a supreme court judge, as his term expires on the date set for the consolidation. All cases pending before the court of appeals will then be transferred to the supreme court and no bond or obligation given in any cases then before the court of appeals will be affected by the change. The bill thoroughly covers the election of judges who are to be elected from time to time, and specifies that judges of the supreme court, except those provided for, shall be elected by the electors of the state at large. No successor of the judge of the court of appeals whose term expires in April, 1905, shall be reappointed.

The bill repeals amendments 5, 6, 7 and 8 of article 6 of the constitution of the state of Colorado. Some of the amendments which have not been mentioned are as follows:

"The supreme court shall consist of seven judges, who may sit en banc or in two or more departments as the court may from time to time determine. In case said court shall sit in departments, each of said departments shall have the full power and authority of said court in the determination of causes, the issuing of writs and the exercise of all powers authorized by the constitution, or provided by law, subject to the general control of the court sitting en banc and such rules and regulations as the court may make, but no division of any department shall become the judgment of the court unless concurred in by at least three judges, and no case involving the construction of the constitution of this state or of the United States shall be decided except by the court en banc.

"The judge having the shortest term to serve, not holding his office by appointment or election to fill a vacancy, shall be the chief justice. Of the two judges whose terms of office expire on the same day, the younger in years of the two judges shall be the chief justice during the next to the last year of his term of office, and the older of the two judges shall be chief justice during the last year of his term of office. The chief justice shall preside at all sessions of the court en banc, and in case of his absence, then the judge who would next be entitled to become chief justice shall preside. Until otherwise provided by law, the supreme court shall have power to review the judgment and proceedings of superior courts in such instances and in such manner as was provided by law previous to the act establishing the court of appeals."

Senator Taylor has labored industriously for the passage of the bill, and every lawyer in the state is said to be in favor of it. The Colorado Bar association and the Denver Bar association have both been active in working to get the bill through.

One important point which is not generally understood is in regard to the chief justice. The judges transferred from the court of appeals to the supreme court will not be eligible to serve as chief justice. Only those elected by election of the state will be eligible to serve in such capacity.

Other Bills Passed.

House bill No. 301, concerning the age of consent, and providing severe penalties for violation of the law, was passed on third reading.

House bill No. 266, Riley, appropriating $150,000 for the Colorado exhibit at the St. Louis World's fair, caused a good deal of excitement, but finally passed on third reading.

Senate bill No. 55, Drake, to establish a system of free schools, passed with amendments.

Senate bill No. 154, Rush, amending section 11 of chapter 60 of the revised statutes, amended and passed on third reading.

Governor Peabody today signed house bill No. 66, which increases the number of judges for the Fourth judicial district, by the addition of one more judge. A delegation of about 25 residents of Colorado Springs called on the governor today to urge the appointment of Judge W. C. Robinson to the new judgeship. Judge Robinson was county judge in one of the eastern counties and who located at Holyoke. Either Mr. Robinson or Robert E. Lewis will be appointed by Governor Peabody to fill this place. Chairman Fabley is urging the appointment of Mr. Lewis.

Governor Peabody today appointed two members of the state board of pardons for a term of four years each. They were Wm. D. Patrick and Dr. Wm. M. Mickerson, both of Denver.

CRIPPLE CREEK'S NEW PROSPERITY

Present Outlook for the District Is Excellent---Mine Owners Checking Up Returns to Assessor.

Special to the Gazette.

Cripple Creek, April 2.—Since the settlement of the strike, great activity among the miners and miners of the Victor end of the district is noticeable. Nearly all the properties affected by the late strike have resumed with a full force of men, and in every case the old employes are being given preference over all others who apply for work.

The Ajax mine was the first to resume shipping to the Standard mill, when yesterday several cars of ore were consigned to the mill and the congested condition of the mine will be relieved in the course of the next few days. A full force of men is employed on this property, and it is possible it will be increased in the near future.

This morning it was announced that the Hull City property will put the men laid off back to work and that the mine will be running to its full capacity by Saturday. The Strong and Isabella mines have resumed shipment to the United States Refining and Reduction company's mills, and before many days will be making their usual output. By present indications, the railroads will have a busy season, handling the ore which has been stored during the strike and is now ready for shipment.

To all appearances an era of good feeling has come upon the district, and it is believed the position of the miner is better understood by mine manager and business man and the chances for future trouble has been greatly lessened.

The leasing system is being expanded as never before in the history of the district, and many large properties expect to operate on a larger scale than ever before. This with the opening of the Strong mine will very likely put Cripple Creek back where it was three years ago.

Chairman Charles H. Hoyt, Mrs. Thomas Uzzell and Representative Frank Frewen of the state school board, report today by looking up old friends and being the guests of the officials.

There is no doubt but that Mrs. Uzzell and Patrick Uzzell to serve as representatives. We merely give up to the company. Judge Hoyt has some property in the district which he wanted to look at. He had hardly arrived here so we thought it a good time to run up with Mr. Frewen before returning to Denver. Mrs. Hoyt accompanied the judge to the district but we came of the weather was so bad we left the district very much better.

K. Macdonald of Colorado Springs spent the day looking up the returns made to the assessor on the stocks of the 1902 output from the Ajax and K and N properties. Large amounts of by mine owners are checking up returns which they have made under the same head, this investigation being caused by the discrepancy of the bond output of $15,000,000, for the entire output valuation as shown by the returns in the assessor's office, and the total of $12,000,000 returned by the mine owners, leaving a difference of $3,000,000 to be accounted for.

C. E. West, formerly proprietor of the Pueblo Tribune, has taken charge of the Evening Star of this city, and will be continued as a Republican paper.

This announcement will come as a surprise to many people, as it was thought that the paper would be a democratic mouthpiece. Last Sunday from 2 to 4 p. m. there were scores of people, young and old, men and women, served, from 5 o'clock until late the guests participated in a social dance. A large crowd was entertained both afternoon and evening, and the good fellowship which was felt during the day only goes to show that the Democratic victory will be great Tuesday at the municipal election.

EDUCATORS WERE GUESTS OF Y. M. C. A. YESTERDAY

The formal opening exercises of the new Y. M. C. A. building will be continued with a banquet this evening at which there will be present representatives of the association and officers of young people's societies.

The banquet is in charge of the women of the First Congregational church, Mrs. Florian Cajori, chairman.

H. R. Chapman will be the toastmaster. Rev. L. E. Brown of the First Christian church will speak for the educational institutions; J. M. Hawkins for the Sunday schools; E. H. Livermore for the City Christian Endeavor union; R. F. Zeibner, Epworth league; Rev. C. E. B. Ward, field secretary for the Christian Endeavor society of Colorado.

There will be a reception at 8:00 p. m. to church officials. Walter Winkler is the chairman of the reception committee.

The address at 8:30 p. m. will be given in the auditorium by W. M. Danner, state secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

Any who have thus far been unable hitherto to attend will be cordially welcomed at the reception this evening.

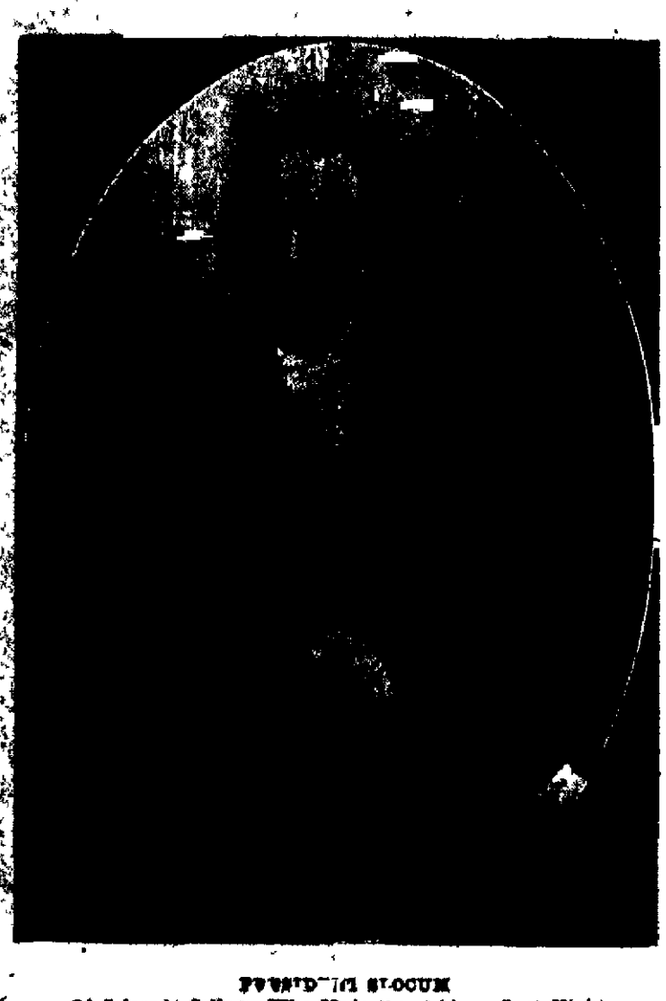
One of the most interesting audiences which has been gathered in the auditorium was that of the teachers of all the grades in the city. The public schools, the college, the state institutions, and the parochial schools were all represented.

Prof. Hans Dietrich of the public schools presided and introduced the speakers of the evening, President Slocum of Colorado college, President Hemenway of the board of education, and Superintendent of Colorado College.

Dr. Slocum began by saying that every one in Colorado Springs who was interested in our young men and boys was rejoicing in the completion of the building and the exercises which inaugurated its opening. This is a week of profound importance to our city. Dr. Slocum then spoke of the monumental value of the structure. It is a great thing that it stands on this conspicuous corner in the city with its lights gleaming out into the city telling young people of that for which it stands. It says to each one an honest, pure, manly life is the best thing. It says this to every visitor in the city and tells him that we as citizens believe in that for which the building was erected. All this strengthens the work of the teachers of the city and makes their task a more hopeful one for the moral problem is the most important one and every true teacher feels that his work is a failure if his pupil does not become a good man or woman. The erection of the building then is a valuable thing to each teacher.

The Religious Ideal.

Dr. Slocum then spoke of the religious ideal for which the association stands. The deepest thing in the human mind is the religious nature and whatever develops that helps to make all else that is good more possible. At the great conference recently held in Chicago of teachers, superintendents, college and university presidents to discuss the best methods of teaching religious truths, the one thing in which all agreed was that the deepest and most important side of the child's nature is the religious sentiment. No education is complete which rejects this fact. We cannot carry sectarianism into our schools, and the Young Men's Christian association stands for the highest religious ideal without standing for any one denomination. It works with them all and all work with it; but its work is broad in spirit and most earnest in purpose but it maintains prominently the religious ideal and puts that above everything else and that too in a way which is quite in line with the work of the school.



PRESIDENT SLOCUM
Of Colorado College, Who Made the Address Last Night.

Breadth of Work

The breadth of the work was also emphasized from the educational standpoint. It seeks the development of the whole boy, his physical, intellectual and religious side. It gives many a young man an opportunity which cannot be received in any other way with the evening classes, the gymnasium and other facilities.

Dr. Slocum closed with a strong appeal to all the teachers of the city to stand by the work of the association and help it in every way possible. All are grateful to the generous people who have given to the building. We as teachers can always speak a good word for it.

It is a great thing that Colorado Springs, the educational center and residence town is the first city in the Rocky mountain country to erect and equip the first Young Men's Christian association building.

In conclusion President Slocum of Colorado college spoke of the pleasure it gives to all the teachers of the city to have the Young Men's Christian association building, and what it means to every teacher and to the parents of the city. Homes are safer because of the building and all for which it stands.

At the Banquet.

The banqueters last evening included the faculties of the educational institutions of the city. The number seated at table exceeded any banquet thus far and was indeed a memorably delightful occasion. The divine blessing was invoked by Prof. Shedd. The banquet was spread by the women of the First Presbyterian church, Mrs. John Lennox, chairman. Those assisting were Mesdames L. H. Gowdy, Thomas Craigue, Harry Vos Steeg, L. Gashwiler, Alfred Eaves, I. K. Miller, Martin Slaughter, H. S. Hawks, H. H. Seldomridge, Corsa Kidd. Misses Ethel Hawks, Grace Campbell, Margaret Gowdy, Margaret Mack, Marie Gashwiler.

The tables were very tastefully decked with red and white carnations, sprengeri and ferneries, also silver candelabrum with red candles. The menu included bouillon, hot roast beef, sliced cold ham, escalloped potatoes, olives, pickles, jelly, chicken salad, wafers, ice cream, cake, coffee.

After this feast Prof. John Dietrich, the toastmaster, made the introductory address. He alluded to the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A. and kindred organizations as one with the educational interests of the land. Analogous, because striving to help others build character—helping others to make a success in life. He deplored the fact that teachers have not a greater hold on civic affairs. In concluding he exhorted educators to a renewed covenant with the Y. M. C. A. for the relations of the educational institutions are reflex ones.

Prof. Cajori spoke briefly for Colorado college along congratulatory lines on the completion of the Y. M. C. A. building.

Mr. Hemenway Spoke

The next speaker, President Hemenway of the board of education, congratulated alike the city and the association upon the acquisition of the fine new building—said that the trustees should have great credit for their wonderful success.

Superintendent Argo of the Colorado School for Deaf and Blind spoke in happiest vein of his exile from Kentucky to Colorado Springs, a city of homes, and, addressing himself to the secretary of the Y. M. C. A. gave him the highest encomium for his faithfulness in providing a beautiful home for the young men of the city.

Prof. Stark of the Ferris school spoke briefly, as did Prof. Walton, on the general lines of congratulation.

Miss Henry of the City Kindergarten association was called for but she was not present.

Prof. Henager of the Business college gave his hearty indorsement of the Y. M. C. A. Principal Myers of the High school expressed himself as keenly interested in the Y. M. C. A., as the relations were identical with that of the High school as regards the youth. Principal Scott of the Garfield school, moved that all the ward teachers unite in congratulations to the Y. M. C. A.

Mrs. Ada C. Bortree.

Mrs. Ada C. Bortree of the Washington school expressed her cordial sympathy in the Y. M. C. A. and reminded the assembled company that the Y. W. C. A. too needs a building suitable for their work.

C. S. Ward, the international field secretary, expressed the reason that the Y. M. C. A. commends itself to educators—its work, too, is all educational.

The chair voiced the thanks of those present for the banquet so perfectly provided.

The reception in the new Y. M. C. A. building given by the Woman's auxiliary to the women of the city occurred yesterday afternoon from 3 until 5 o'clock. A gratifying feature was the presence of many women from the homes of our city who managed to get off for this reception. Mrs. W. W. Williamson acted as chairman of the arrangements and the committee had been invited to be present. Mrs. F. W. Goddard, Mrs. W. F. Slocum, Mrs. C. C. Hemming, Mrs. A. T. Gunnell, Mrs. J. W. leged to have been committed and debts overdue, by this republic to citizens of various foreign powers, notably England, Germany, and Italy. After failure to reach an agreement these powers began a blockade of the Venezuelan coast and a condition of quasi-war ensued. The concern of our government was of course not to interfere needlessly in any quarrel so far as it did not touch our interests or our honor, and not to take the attitude of protecting from correction any power unless we were willing to espouse the quarrel of that power, but to keep an attitude of watchful vigilance and see that there was no infringement of the Monroe doctrine—no acquirement of territorial rights by a European power at the expense of a weak sister republic—whether this acquisition might take the shape of an outright and avowed seizure of territory or of the exercise of control which would in effect be equivalent to such seizure. This attitude was expressed in the two following published memoranda, the first being the letter addressed by the secretary of state to the German ambassador, the second the conversation with the secretary of state reported by the British ambassador.

Department of State
Washington Dec. 16, 1901

"His Excellency Dr. von Holleben, etc.

"Dear Excellency:—I inclose a memorandum by way of reply to that which you did me the honor to leave with me on Saturday, and am, as ever,

"Faithfully, yours,
"John Hay.

"Memorandum

"The president in his message of the 3d of December, 1901, used the following language:

"'The Monroe doctrine is a declaration that there must be no territorial aggrandizement by any non-American power at the expense of any American power on American soil. It is in no wise intended as hostile to any nation in the old world.'

"The president further said:

"This doctrine has nothing to do with the commercial relations of any American power save that it in truth allows each of them to form such as it desires. We do not guarantee any state against punishment if it misconducts itself, provided that punishment does not take the form of the acquisition of territory by any non-American power.

"His excellency the German ambassador, on his recent return from Berlin, conveyed personally to the president the assurance of the German emperor that His Majesty's government had no purpose or intention to make even the smallest acquisition of territory on the South American continent or the islands adjacent. This voluntary and friendly declaration was afterwards repeated to the secretary of state and was received by the president and the people of the United States in the frank and cordial spirit in which it was offered. In the memorandum of the 11th of December His Excellency the German ambassador repeats these assurances as follows: 'We declare specially that under no circumstances do we consider in our proceedings the acquisition of the permanent occupation of Venezuelan territory.'

"In the said memorandum of the 11th of December, the German government informs that of the United States that it has certain just claims for money and for damages wrongfully withheld from German subjects by the government of Venezuela and that it proposes to take certain coercive measures described in the memorandum to enforce the payment of these just claims.

"The president of the United States, appreciating the courtesy of the German government in making him acquainted with the state of affairs referred to and, not regarding himself as called upon to enter into the consideration of the claims in question, believes that no measures will be taken in this matter by the agents of the German government which are not in accordance with the well known purpose above set forth, of His Majesty the German Emperor.

"Sir Michael Herbert to the Marquis of Lansdowne.

"Washington, [illegible]

"I communicated to Mr. Hay this morning the substance of Your Lordship's telegram of the 11th instant.

"His Excellency stated in reply, that the United States government, although they regretted that European powers should use force against Central and South American countries could not object to their taking steps to obtain redress for injuries suffered by their subjects provided that no acquisition of territory was contemplated.

Settlement of the Controversy.

"Both powers assured us in explicit terms that there was not the slightest intention on their part to violate the principles of the Monroe doctrine, and this assurance was kept with an honorable good faith which merits full acknowledgement on our part. At the same time the existence of hostilities in a region so near our own borders was fraught with such possibilities of danger in the future that it was obviously no less our duty to ourselves than our duty to humanity to endeavor to put an end to that. Accordingly by an offer of our good services in a spirit of frank friendliness to all the parties concerned, a spirit in which they quickly and cordially responded we secured a resumption of peace the contending parties agreeing that the matters which they could not settle among themselves should be referred to The Hague Tribunal for settlement. The United States had most fortunately already been able to set an example to other nations by utilizing the great possibilities for good contained in The Hague Tribunal in a question at issue between ourselves and the republic of Mexico being the first submitted to this international court of arbitration.

"The terms which we have secured as those under which the Isthmian canal is to be built and the course of events in the Venezuela matter, have shown not merely the ever growing influence of the United States in the western hemisphere but also, I think I may safely say, have exemplified the firm purpose of the United States that its growth and influence and power shall be bound not to the harm but to the benefit of our sister republics whose strength is less. Our growth therefore is beneficial to humankind in general. We do not intend to assume any position which can give just offense to our neighbors. Our adherence to the cut of human rights is not merely profession. The history of our dealings with Cuba shows that we reduce it to performance.

Need of Efficient Navy

"The Monroe doctrine is not international law, and though I think one day it may become such, this is not necessary as long as it remains a cardinal feature of our foreign policy and as long as we possess both the will and the strength to make it effective. This last point my fellow citizens is all important and is one which as a people we can never afford to forget. I believe in the Monroe doctrine with all my heart and soul. I am convinced that the immense majority of our fellow-countrymen so believe in it, but I would infinitely prefer to see us abandon it than to see us put it forward and bluster about it and not fall to build up the efficient fighting strength which is the last resort can alone make it respected by any strong foreign power whose interest it may ever happen to be to violate it.

"Boasting and bluntness are as objectionable among nations as among individuals and the public men of a great nation owe it to their sense of national self respect to speak courteously of foreign powers just as a brave and self-respecting man treats all around him courteously. But though to boast is bad and causelessly to insult another worse, yet worse than all is to be guilty of boasting even without insult and when called to the proof to be unable to make such boasting good. There is a homely old adage which runs: 'Speak softly and carry a big stick, you will go far.' If the American nation will speak softly and yet build and keep at a pitch of the highest efficiency a thoroughly efficient navy, the Monroe doctrine will go far. I ask you to think over this. If you do you will come to the conclusion that it is mere plain common sense, so obviously sound that only the blind can fail to see its truth and only the weakest and most irresolute can fail to desire to put it into force.

Long Strides in Advance.

"Well, in the last two years I am happy to say we have taken long strides in advance as regards our navy. The last congress, in addition to smaller vessels, provided nine of those formidable fighting ships upon which the real efficiency of any navy in war ultimately depends. It provided moreover for the necessary addition of officers and enlisted men to make the ships worth having. Meanwhile the navy department has seen to it that our ships have been constantly exercised at sea with the great guns and in maneuvers so that their efficiency as fighting units both individually and when acting together has been steadily improved. Remember that all of this is necessary. A war ship is a huge bit of mechanism well-nigh as delicate and complicated as it is formidable. It takes years to build it. It takes years to teach the officers and men how to handle it to good advantage. It is an absolute impossibility to improvise a navy at the outset of war. No recent war between any two nations has lasted so long as it takes to build a battle ship, and it is just as impossible to improvise the officers or the crews as to improvise the navy.

"To lay up a battle ship and only send it afloat at the outset of a war with a raw crew and untried officers would be not merely folly but a crime for it would invite disaster and disgrace. The ways which so quickly decided in our favor the war in 1898 had been built and made efficient during the preceding 15 years. The ships that triumphed off Manila and Santiago had been built under previous administrations with money appropriated by previous congresses. The officers and men did their duty so well because they had already been trained to it by long sea service. All honor to the gallant officers and gallant men who actually did the fighting but remember too to honor the public men, the shipwrights and steel workers, the owners of the shipyards and armor plants to whose united foresight and exertion we owe it that in 1898 we had craft of good guns so excellent and American seamen of so high a type in the conning towers in the gun turrets and in the engine rooms. It is too late to prepare for a war when war has come and if we only prepare sufficiently a war will never come. We want a powerful and efficient navy not for the purpose of war but for the sake of peace. If we have such a navy and we keep on building it up we may rest assured that there is but the smallest chance that it would ever come to this matter and conversely we may rest assured that no foreign power will ever quarrel with us if it sees the Monroe doctrine.

An Impromptu Reception

At the conclusion of the address the music ceased and continued applause and while the greater part of the audience was leaving the hall the president was holding an impromptu reception on the platform where all the members of the committee that could be seated with him on the platform and many from the audience pressed forward to offer their congratulations on his address. Scant time was allowed for this however and the special committee closed about him hurling the short handshaking and quickly escorted him back to his apartments in the hotel immediately preceding his address in the Auditorium the president was entertained at dinner to the number of 100 in the Auditorium hotel by the members of the local entertainment committee. About 15 guests were present and announced at the outset that the dinner was to be entirely informal and that there would be no speeches. President Roosevelt made a short address which lasted from 6:10 o'clock until 6:25 when the time had arrived for him to enter the Auditorium hall.

ITALIAN SENATOR'S VIEW OF UNITED STATES' POWER

By Associated Press.

Rome, April 2.—Senator Villari in an address delivered today before the Italian and queen with the opening of the National Historical congress made several allusions to the United States. He said Europe was shut in between two great powerful countries, Russia on the east and the United States on the west. The latter from a population of 5,000,000 had risen to 80,000,000 and no one knew what number its population eventually would reach. The United States also had taken the lead in all length works of progress and civilization. The two forces acting on Europe were likely to render necessary a union of the different European countries which would completely change the geographical situation to the universal advantage of Europe. The senator added that he foresaw and predicted the twentieth century will perhaps see the solution of many problems.

"The mixing of the white and black races," he continued, "brought about the war of secession in the United States and the liberation of the negroes from slavery, but this had not harmonized or amalgamated the two races, which hate each other now perhaps more than ever before."

The United States probably will be the first to give us an indication how to deal with such grave and important questions which Europe must meet throughout the two immense continents of Africa and Asia.

WABASH TROUBLES ARE NEARING A SETTLEMENT

By Associated Press.

St. Louis, April 2.—Everything seems within every short time of the differences to point to an amicable adjustment existing between the Wabash Railroad company and its employes. During the day attorneys for parties to the controversy held several conferences that had for their purpose the paving of the way for a resumption of the negotiations between railroad officials and brotherhood men broken off on March 16 by the issuance of Judge Adams' writ of injunction. It is said that at these conferences at which Messrs. Operators Have Fine Showing and Made Exceptionally Good Record During Month of March—Sioux Falls Company Is Pushing Development Work.

Special to the Gazette.

Cripple Creek, April 2.—Boyce and associates, operating on the Keystone lease, have received returns from a 27-ton shipment, which gave them an average of seven ounces in gold to the ton. This shipment has been taken out during the past month, and nets the operators, four in number, over $300 each, after paying all expenses and royalties. In the workings they have a vein from two to six feet in width, a streak of which runs as high as 50 ounces in gold, but it dwindles down to one ounce, making an average of the above. Sub-lessees on this property received returns today from a shipment made last Saturday which carried values of eight ounces to the ton.

The Sioux Falls company, operating several properties on Battle mountain, is pushing development work and conditions are improving steadily. This property, which comprises the Fluorine and Ft. Wilcox claims, seems with the present management to have a wonderful future.

Outside of the famous Portland, the Empire State on Bull hill is now said to have more ore in sight than any other mine in camp. Since the labor troubles are settled, the management intends to largely increase production from this property, which is believed to carry the extension of the rich veins that apex on Isabella territory. One vein at the present showing is more than 20 feet in width, while several others vary from eight inches to six feet in width.

No attempt is being made to handle the water situation in the bottom of the Gold Coin mine, nor will the pumps be started there for some time to come, as it is believed that the flow encountered will slowly drain away, and it will be much cheaper to let it drain than try to raise it 1,400 feet. The output for this property is now averaging about 60 tons per day, and quite a little of the rock is of high grade value.

Sinking is under way on the Santa Rita property on Squaw mountain, but the management is having a hard time in fighting the water. At present they are trying to handle the flow with buckets, but as the shaft is over 600 feet in depth, this is no easy matter.

The Economic mill, property of the Woods Investment company, is now treating about 300 tons of ore per day, the plant being kept up to its utmost capacity. In the next few days, it is expected that considerable of the output of the Golden Cycle company will again be handled at this mill, the remainder of their ore going to the Telluride plant.

The Eagles property of the Stratton estate laid off its men this morning on account of bad air. The lay-off will not last any longer than tonight, as the men were told to report tomorrow morning for work again.

[illegible] CONTRACT WORK ON THE EL PASO TUNNEL

The measurement of the El Paso drainage tunnel was turned in to the officers of the company yesterday morning, showing that 746 feet of work had been attained during the month of March. Progress at the rate of 25 feet per day was made for the entire month in the three headings, although a portion of the time work was in progress in only two headings. From now on the work in all three headings will be prosecuted continuously and it is expected that a rate of 10 feet per day in each heading, or 30 feet in all, can be attained.

In order to complete the tunnel on schedule time a rate of less than 20 feet per day will have to be accomplished. The time set for its completion is August 25, but at the rate of 30 feet per day will see the bore completed several weeks sooner.

The rate of progress is gratifying to the officers of the El Paso company, as well as to the owners of the properties to be benefited by the project, as it will mean that work in the lower levels of several mines can be started a month or six weeks sooner than was originally expected, and the progress of the tunnel is watched with great interest by all concerned in the welfare of the Cripple Creek district.

REPORTS FROM GOLD DOLLAR

P. Richter and W. R. Benzie of Denver visited the Ingalls property on Gunnell hill at Central City, in Gilpin county, a few days ago, and report gratifying progress in sinking the main shaft.

A vein of ore, 11 feet in width is said to be showing in the bottom of the shaft, averaging from $6 to $10 to the ton, while assays have been obtained running as high as $1,600. The shaft is now down 350 feet and it will be sunk to a depth of 500 feet before any development work in the way of drifting and cross-cutting is done.

The company is saving all the ore extracted in the work of sinking the shaft, and it is expected that a shipment of considerable proportions will be made before long. The property adjoins the famous Gunnell mine, which has produced heavily for years, and Mr. Benzie states that the same vein is being developed which produced in the Gunnell, and besides there is a junction of veins which is expected to contain a valuable ore shoot.

[illegible] FROM BULL HILL

The Gold Coin Mining and Smelting company is preparing another shipment from the Ellithorpe shaft on the Bonanza King property on Gold hill. It is expected that the ore will run $30 to the ton, according to careful sampling and assays obtained from the dump. The screenings run about $24 to the ton. The ore is coming from a stope above the 200 foot level in the property.

The company also has a lease on the War Eagle claim on Bull hill, and a shipment is already out which is expected to run nearly two ounces in gold to the ton. Considerable development work is being done on both leases and the company is pushing work as rapidly as possible.

LESSEES MAKE GOOD FROM PRINCE ALBERT

Lessees Dubrosky and associates, operating a block of Prince Albert property on Beacon hill are reported to be saving ore from a 15-foot dyke at a point near the surface of the ground, assays showing values of $32 per ton. A shipment was made a short time ago from this deposit which gave returns of $48.40 to the ton. The lessees are working vigorously to develop this ore body with the hope that a richer shoot may be encountered at greater depth. There are several sets of lessees working the property, all of whom are making shipments of ore running better than one ounce to the ton.

GOLD KNOB WILL PROBABLY LEASE

An officer of the Gold Knob Mining and Townsite company states that the company will be clear of debt this week, it having received the sum of $40,000 from John T. Milliken as purchase price on 25 acres of property recently secured under option by Mr. Milliken. It is expected that a number of leases will be granted as soon as the property can be surveyed into blocks for that purpose.

KEYSTONE RETURNS

Returns have been received from a shipment of ore sent out by the lessees on the Sitting Bull claim of the Keystone company on Bull hill. The ore was settled for at the rate of $75 to the ton, and came from a depth of 80 feet.

COLORADO SPRINGS MINING STOCK EXCHANGE

The mining stock market was characterized yesterday by brisk trading and advancing prices, although a few notable exceptions were noticed.

Acacia advanced again, selling up to 9⅝, the opening price being at 9½. Elkton gained fractionally, selling at 57½ and El Paso gained 1 cent per share, selling at 61, a gain of 4 cents per share since the strike was settled. Gold Dollar continued to advance, closing at 5¼, with sales of 17,000 shares. Golden Cycle was weaker, dropping to 73, the opening price being 73½. The stock sold the day before at 75. Isabella was also slightly lower, selling down to 18⅝ from 19 at the opening. Lexington held strong at 4⅞ and Vindicator advanced 2 cents per share to 99, at which price all the sales of the day were made. Work was stronger again, advancing to 6⅞.

Trading was more lively in the prospect list than for some time, and Gold Knob was traded in at 1⅝, 6,000 shares changing hands at that figure. Keystone held fairly strong, although the stock lost one-eighth during the call, closing at 5⅝. Little Puck was slightly higher at 3⅞ and Magnet Rock gained to 1⅜ on small sales. St. Thomas was in demand at 1½.

In the miscellaneous list Eleanor sold at $5 per thousand shares and Shannon at $5.50 per thousand. Texas Girl at 36 and Xerxes at $2 per thousand were in demand, 15,000 shares of the latter stock selling at the price mentioned.

Speedy Cure by Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills

When the Best Physicians and All Else Fail.

The agonizing itching and burning of the skin, as in eczema; the frightful scaling, as in psoriasis; the loss of hair and crusting of the scalp, as in scalled head; the facial disfigurements, as in pimples and ringworm; the awful suffering of infants, and anxiety of worn-out parents, as in milk crust, tetter and salt rheum, all demand a remedy of almost superhuman virtues to successfully cope with them. That Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills are such stands proven beyond all doubt. No statement is made regarding them that is not justified by the strongest evidence. The purity and sweetness, the power to afford immediate relief, the certainty of a speedy and permanent cure, the absolute safety and great economy have made them the standard skin cures, blood purifiers and humour remedies of the civilized world.

Bathe the affected parts with hot water and Cuticura Soap, to cleanse the surface of crusts and scales, and soften the thickened cuticle. Dry, without hard rubbing, and apply Cuticura Ointment freely, to allay itching, irritation and inflammation, and soothe and heal, and, lastly, take the Cuticura Resolvent Pills, to cool and cleanse the blood. This complete treatment, costing but one dollar, affords instant relief, permits rest and sleep in the severest forms of eczema and other itching, burning and scaly humours of the skin, scalp and blood, and points to a speedy, permanent and economical cure when all other remedies and the best physicians fail.

GRAIN LETTER

Report of Logan & Bryan (by Private Wire), to Otis & Hough

Chicago April 3.—Wheat Liverpool ¼ higher. Paris unchanged to ¼ higher. Antwerp unchanged. Market has ruled firm particularly for May and the close is about the best price for the day. The fine weather and favorable crop news was offset by the reported sales for export at the seaboard. Reports point to the fact that all loads have been taken but as was the case yesterday there seems to be a difference of opinion as to the amount of business actually done. Broomhall reported crop advices from Roumania and south Russia as less favorable and that it looked as if France would be obliged to import wheat. There was a general demand on part of May shorts to cover but a good many of our leading local traders were rather aggressive buyers. The deferred options moved up in sympathy with May. Commission houses seemed to have a good many buying orders in both July and September for outside account. The Price Current on the crop outlook was bullish. Receipts in the northwest and southwest liberal. Argentine shipments reported to be nearly 1,000,000 bushels.

Corn Liverpool ¼ higher. Market has been steady. Cash prices were off about 1 cent because of a reduction in bids in sympathy with wheat. Houses with southwest connections were fair buyers of the September option. The changing from May to July which has been going on for some time was not in evidence today. It is a fact that

EASTERN MARKETS

NEW YORK LETTER.

Report of F. Zachs & Co. to Otis & Hough.

New York April 2.—The opening of the market today was very tame and prices did not respond to higher quotations for Americans from London. There was no trading for foreign account and no buying orders appearing here, the market started to sag after first hour and continued to do so up to close. It was the dullest day in many weeks and a number of disturbing factors stimulated aggressiveness on bear side. The statement by the Pennsylvania for the month of February made a poor showing for notwithstanding large increase shown in gross earnings there was a loss in the net earnings as compared with last year. The labor situation is a factor and caused a number of tired and impatient holders to close their accounts. The tone in afternoon was heavy and extremely dull, the trading of no significance. The market continued to sag under its own weight.

Dick Brothers—Market was dull irregular and heavy today. More or less declines were scored through the list. Call money continues to rule at high rates and the banks made another heavy loss in cash. Extreme weakness of C. F. & I. which broke five points was an unsettling factor. The selling was generally professional and there was an entire lack of support. Nervousness over the Southern Pacific suit was evident. Southern Pacific stock commanded as much as 1 per cent in loan crowd.

Sharp & Bryan—Money on call got up to 12 per cent again this afternoon but the last loans were made at 7. At a fair rate to quote on the day's business would be 7 per cent. There did not appear to be any special explanation for the advance in the last hour, but very little money was offering and in all probability lenders are waiting to see the upshot of the Southern Pacific matter tomorrow after the books close. The stock market was heavy from the start to finish and showed no rallying power at any time and superficial explanations of its weakness were furnished by the money situation, the labor troubles and anxiety regarding the Southern Pacific matter. Probably the latter had as much to do with the weakness as anything else. The only single feature of strength was B. R. T. but there was no particular explanation of the exceptional course of that stock. The day was a disappointing one to the believers in high prices but in the event of a favorable settlement of the Southern Pacific proposition we look for some improvement in the market next week.

Provisions—Less hogs than looked for and there was selling of May lips and July pork by brokers who usually act for one of the large packers. The late weakness in hogs which closed 5 cents lower, brought in some selling orders. Trade on the whole, however, was unimportant.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 40 cars; corn, 116 cars; oats, 166 cars; hogs, 19,000 head.

King Edward's Odd Treasures

Quite apart from the treasures which become the property of every British sovereign, and which consist for the most part of gold and silver plate weighing altogether 28 tons and valued at nearly 10 million dollars, King Edward possesses a private collection of curios of which little is known.

The museum at the Queen's house at Windsor was finally established as recently as 1896, when some workmen engaged in repairing the roofs brought to light a number of relics dating from the Stuart period, and these with such as were personally collected by Queen Victoria have been set apart with several attendants to look after them. Wax models are present in large numbers, every campaign of recent years being represented since the Abyssinian war, at the conclusion of which Lord Napier presented the queen with King Theodore's crown and gold seal. Subsequently Lord Roberts added the scarlet saddle edged with gold and the silver bit captured from the late amir of Afghanistan, and Lord Kitchener presented the crimson banner of Wad Bishara, taken at Fiket.

The collection of old lime was got together by the late queen and is composed of 10,000 pieces, its value being put at 8 million dollars. Every piece is tabulated in a book kept for that purpose and against each entry is a record of what the article in question is worth with a brief account of its history. One dessert service alone represents $100,000, it being of Sèvres ware of extraordinary beauty and a breakfast service given to George III on his birthday in 1810 by his five daughters, whose initials are on every piece, is worth $50,000. Among the furniture is the writing desk given by Henry VIII to Anne Boleyn on their wedding day, also an old Venetian chair used by the doges and dated 1670. A solid silver table of the same period is another treasure on which the king sets great store.

The king's collection of feather cloaks is valued at $50,000. They are composed of gold, black and crimson feathers from the wings of a now extinct species of parrot, and were given to George IV by the king of the Sandwich islands in 1824. Some of the feathers are so minute as to make each cloak a marvel of ingenuity. Another treasure which at one time belonged to a savage potentate is Tippoo Sahib's eagle, taken from his throne at Seringapatam. The bird, nearly life-size, is of solid gold; the beak and wings are tipped with diamonds. There is also a gold tiger's head from the same source, the eyes of which are of priceless crystal.

Not far away may be found the collection of walking sticks King Edward inherited from his mother, numbering 187 in all and many of them of great value. One of these purchased at the Culloden sale in 1897 is carved to represent Wisdom and Folly, $900 having been paid for it. Another of black oak originally belonged to Charles II, while a third is made of the wood of the Indelible Alabama, the handle being carved to represent Captain Semmes, the skipper.

The royal library, which now consists of 125,000 volumes, owes its origin to the late prince consort and could not be purchased for 2½ million dollars. A second collection of 10,000 volumes for which the king was himself responsible while Prince of Wales, repose at Sandringham. In the Windsor collection are many books of priceless value, not the Mentz Psalter of which is only one other intact copy extant, its value is $40,000. There are also the manuscript of Mozart's Fifth Opera and the copy of Shakespeare's works used by Charles I. Among the pictures are 2,000 original drawings after such masters as Raphael, Da Vinci, etc.

Not the least interesting feature of the king's private museum is his collection of gold keys which have been presented to him at various times when opening public buildings. To each is attached a record of the ceremony with which it was connected, the total value of the collection being placed at $5,000.

A GREAT DISCOVERY

In Electro-Chemical Science.

ELECTRO-MAGNETINE, a recent discovery of Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., is an Electro-Magnetized and Ammoniated-Camphorated Cream Liniment.

POSSESSED OF MARVELOUS PROPERTIES

ELECTRO-MAGNETINE is believed to be the only preparation yet devised for curative purposes endowed with such peculiar properties that when applied to any part of the human body accompanied with brisk rubbing with the naked hands, it causes an active and energetic electro-magnetic action to be set up in the parts to which it is applied.

The wonderful potency of this peculiar form of electro-magnetic force, individual or animal magnetism, or whatever it may properly be termed, in curing certain forms of human maladies has been demonstrated beyond the possibility of doubt.

Whether ELECTRO-MAGNETINE is actually charged with electro-magnetic properties infused into it in the process of manufacture or whether it serves merely as a medium through which electro-magnetic forces are developed by active rubbing and which are, through it, transmitted or applied to the parts operated upon, we are not yet quite prepared to say, but of one thing we are certain, viz: That the combined use of ELECTRO-MAGNETINE with active rubbing is much more efficient in a curative way than either of these agencies employed separately.

The free application of the ELECTRO-MAGNETINE to the skin, accompanied with vigorous rubbing with the bare hands, sets up in the affected parts such an active electro-magnetic action as to greatly promote the circulation of the blood through the swollen parts and thereby hasten absorption and consequent reduction of swelling, stiffness, soreness and pain.

IMPORTANCE OF THOROUGH RUBBING

Too much stress cannot be laid upon the importance of thorough and vigorous rubbing of the affected parts after application of the ELECTRO-MAGNETINE. In fact, rubbing is the prime factor in this form of treatment, the friction which the ELECTRO-MAGNETINE upon application becomes almost wholly absorbed by the tissues and glisten only when the application of the [illegible] is discontinued.

[illegible] the thorough course of treatment above directed should be applied two or three times a day.

WEAK BACKS MADE STRONG.

By a somewhat protracted use of ELECTRO-MAGNETINE accompanied with thorough rubbing or massage, weak backs are made strong. Sore Muscles and Lame Backs, whether arising from strains over exertion or Rheumatic Conditions of the system, are relieved, as if by magic, by the thorough application of this remedy. Foot ball and base ball players are amongst those loudest in their praises of it as giving most prompt relief from Muscle pains, Lameness and Soreness caused by over exertion and strains.

Especially has ELECTRO-MAGNETINE proven its power to cure Obstinate Cases of Swollen or Enlarged and Stiffened Joints, whether arising from Rheumatic, Gouty or other conditions of the system which cause inflammation, effusion and consequent enlargement of the joints.

IN ALL CHRONIC OR LINGERING AFFECTIONS,

For the cure of which ELECTRO-MAGNETINE is recommended, it should be thoroughly applied two or three times daily as above directed—not omitting thorough rubbing with the bare hands.

OWNERS OF LIVE STOCK

Should know that ELECTRO-MAGNETINE is quite as effective, in a curative way, when applied to horses and cattle suffering from Sprains, Bruises, [illegible], Swellings or Stiffened Joints and kindred affections, as when applied to human flesh.

Sold by druggists and dealers in medicines throughout the United States and Canada, at 50 cents, or, sent post paid by the manufacturers on receipt of this price in postage stamps or postal order.

COLORADO CITY, APRIL 3, 1903.

Ascough and Merwin Purchase the Iris

W. D. Ascough and W. I. Merwin have purchased from W. P. Epperson the building in which the Iris printing office has been located for some time past. The consideration named in the bond is $2,000. A short time ago the printing plant was bought by the same people and now the building is owned by them, and they will continue the publication of the paper.

The Iris has been under the sole management and supervision of W. P. Epperson since 1888. In politics it has always been Republican and will continue the same under the new management. The formal transfer of the property has been made and Messrs. Ascough and Merwin assumed control at noon yesterday. The plant will be incorporated at an early date.

Amusements

"SANDY BOTTOM."

In the play of "Sandy Bottom," are many situations to shudder the spectator, cause a laugh, and to bring to the eyes tears of sympathetic pity. This strong and varied play will be given at the Opera house tomorrow evening and none who attend will regret the time thus spent. It is a play for young and old, and it affords entertainment for all classes of people. Its human story deals with emotions common to all and never fails to move the spectator. The cast includes such well-known artists as R. E. French, Edward Allan, Samuel Wheeler, J. E. Jackson, Eva French, Jennie Montague and Loetta Babcock.

"LOVERS' LANE."

A play of great runs in great cities is "Lovers' Lane," by Clyde Fitch, which William A. Brady presents at the Opera house on next Tuesday evening. After its acceptance for months in New York, Chicago and Boston it went to Philadelphia last spring and ran for 150 nights. The company which interprets it here is the same. The production is upon the same scale of scenic perfection. "Lovers' Lane" owes its success and universal popularity to the fact that it interests all classes. There are crowds of children in it together with all the pastimes in which the little ones indulge. The two big-hearted Eddyville boys who fight in the village street are so true to nature that the little ones in the audience are wrought up to a pitch of enthusiasm which few plays are calculated to inspire in children.

The childish songs and games too, are familiar and bring to the recollections of those of mature years the days when they too played the same games and indulged in the same games and childish frolics in their village homes. The old-fashioned village street, the general store, the little district schoolhouse, Molly Mealy, the blushing school marm; the scholars including Johnny, the fat boy; the big-hearted clergyman, the funny manager of the village opera house and, the many other characters form a gathering in which mirth and pathos are skillfully blended. The real orchard in the clergyman's garden, in which many of the most pathetic scenes of the play are enacted, showing the trees in full bloom in the spring and again in the fall when the fruit is mellow, is very beautiful.

Amusements

"SANDY BOTTOM."

In the play of "Sandy Bottom," are many situations to gladden the spectator, cause a laugh and to bring to the eyes tears of sympathetic pity. This strong and varied play will be given at the Opera house tomorrow evening and none who attend will regret the time thus spent. It is a play for young and old, and it affords entertainment for all classes of people. Its human story deals with emotions common to all and never fails to move the spectator. The cast includes such well-known artists as R. E. French, Edward Allan Sumner, Wheeler, J. E. Jackson, Eva French, Jennie Montague and Loretta Babcock.

"LOVERS' LANE."

A play of great runs in great cities is "Lovers' Lane," by Clyde Fitch, which William A. Brady presents at the Opera house on next Tuesday evening. After its acceptance for months in New York, Chicago and Boston it went to Philadelphia last spring and ran for 140 nights. The company which interprets it here is the same. The production is upon the same scale of scenic perfection. "Lovers' Lane" owes its success and universal popularity to the fact that it interests all classes. There are crowds of children in it together with all the pastimes in which the little ones indulge. The two big-hearted Eddinsville boys who fight in the village, that are so true to nature, that the little ones in the audience are wrought up to a pitch of enthusiasm which few plays are calculated to inspire in children.

The childish songs and games too are familiar and bring to the recollections of those of mature years the days when they too played the same games and indulged in the same games and childish frolics in their village homes. The old-fashioned village street, the general store, the little district school house, Molly Mealy, the blushing school marm, the scholars including Johnny the fat boy, the big hearted clergyman, the funny manager of the village opera house and the many other characters form a gathering in which mirth and pathos are skillfully blended. The real orchard in the clergyman's garden, in which many of the most pathetic scenes of the play are enacted, showing the trees in full bloom in the spring and again in the fall when the fruit is mellow, is very beautiful.

Ingrain Carpets

The brands of Ingrain Carpet which we carry have more warp threads to the inch and are therefore heavier and will wear longer than any other brands sold at the same price. The dyes used in producing the beautiful colorings are the very best. The designs are the choicest, selected from a large line of the very latest patterns and colorings.

35c Yard Good, heavy, two-ply Ingrain Carpet. Part cotton, of course, but it will wear all the better for that, and the colors are as fast as most all-wool ingrains.

59c Yard All-wool extra super two-ply Ingrain Carpets. Ten very pretty patterns to select from. This is an exceptionally good value, and one that you'll find hard to duplicate.

75c Yard The best all-wool triple-woven Ingrain Carpet made. The kind your grandmother bought. Some persons say that there are not as good Ingrain Carpets made now as formerly. We say this is as good Ingrain as you ever saw. That's a broad statement, but we have the goods to back it.

Grass Matting

40c Yard New Grass Matting, woven from extra strong grass fiber especially to withstand the dry climate of Colorado. This "Dry Climate" Matting is extra heavy, and guaranteed the best obtainable at this price.

SERIOUS CLASH REIGNS MEXICAN CELEBRATION

Mob of About 5[illegible] Partisans of Francisco Reyes Makes Demonstration Against Governor — Four Men Killed and a Large Number Wounded.

By Associated Press.

Monterey Mexico, April 2.—During the celebration here today of the victory of General Diaz' troops over the French at Puebla on April 2, 1867, after the disbanding of a grand parade on the Zaragoza plaza, a mob of about 1500 citizens, partisans of Francisco Reyes who is one of the candidates opposing Governor Bernardo Reyes, late minister of war in President Diaz' cabinet, marched in a body to the residence of Governor Reyes and began to heap abuse upon the governor greeting him with a shower of stones and vells of "Death to Reyes" and other cries.

The celebration of Diaz victory began at 6 a. m. when the national flag had been unfurled above the public building and the various military bands gathered on the Zaragoza plaza on which is situated the residence of Governor Reyes and at 10 a. m. there was a band concert on the plaza and just after the termination of the concert difficulties took place between the partisans of the various candidates for governor which led to the formation of a large mob of those who favor Francisco Reyes for governor. This mob marched in a body to Governor Reyes' residence and began to abuse him. The governor in the meantime called upon the police by telephone for protection and a squad immediately responded and began the work of dispersing the mob. A pitched battle ensued in which stones sticks and pistols played prominent parts. A large number of shots were exchanged between the police and the riotous mob and when the mob had dispersed it was found that two citizens and two policemen had been killed and a large number of persons more or less seriously wounded.

It is impossible to learn the names of the killed. It is also impossible to estimate the number or give the names of those who were wounded as the mob managed to make off with their wounded comrades.

Later in the day quiet was restored throughout the city although there is an undercurrent of ill-feeling against Governor Reyes which may assert itself and trouble is unlikely to break out afresh again at any moment.

"Ever since the retirement of Governor Reyes from the cabinet of President Diaz where he filled the portfolio of minister of war, and since his resumption of the duties of governor of Nuevo Leon, he has not enjoyed his former popularity, and there have been many circulars posted throughout the city favoring the candidacy of Francisco Reyes for governor. Although Francisco bears the same name as the governor there is no family connection whatever between them.

"The liberty which has prevailed during the present campaign of the various candidates for governor of the state of Nuevo Leon is out of the ordinary and for some unknown reason President Diaz has pursued the policy of "hands off" and has left the candidates to work out their own salvation. The various factions have been holding open air meetings in which orators have denounced each other and the newspapers have published scandalous attacks and have dealt in direct personal and outrageous insults to men active in the contest. It is not expected tonight that any further disturbance such as today's will result.

Sporting Notes

[illegible] Shamrock [illegible]

By Associated Press

Gourock, April 2.—The third series of the trials of the Shamrock III was held today under conditions similar to those of yesterday. The wind had rather freshened.

This was welcomed as yesterday's display of the challenger for the American cup left a suspicion among sportsmen that there might be conditions under which the Shamrock I could almost, if not quite hold the new boat. The latter's gear, which was stretched under yesterday's strain was set up afresh yesterday evening.

The boats started on the first trial today from off Edward Point. Their sheets were trimmed and they reached in close company until abeam of Skelmorlie buoy where they luffed and beat to windward to Rothesay, three miles. In cross tacking in a fresh breeze the challenger again showed great ability on this important point of sailing and went further ahead and further to windward on every tack and in a half hour's sailing beat the Shamrock I by four minutes.

The next trial was a spinnaker run down the wind. The breeze was steady. The Shamrock I was given a lead of exactly one minute but in 20 minutes run the challenger closed the gap overlapped her and 10 minutes later had drawn ahead the distance covered being between four and five miles.

Although the challenger proved faster in this run before the wind she hardly demonstrated the superiority expected.

After starting on another turn to windward from Largs to Rothesay about six miles Shamrock III again outtacked on the only tack. The wind freshened but the fresher it became the better it seemed to suit the new boat which finished this beat to windward a gallant mile ahead.

On turning the yachts set their spinnakers for another run down the wind. The Shamrock I was about three minutes astern at the start, but with a better wind than the bay gave shortened the gap until she was barely two minutes behind. The positions were maintained to the end of the run. Starting on another beat back across the firth the Shamrock III excelled all her previous performances on this point of sailing and gained considerably over a mile on a reach of about five miles and when they squared away for the run home, she led by a mile and a half.

Chicago Panthers Defeat Los Angeles Today

If the unexpected should happen and the grounds at Boulevard park should be at all dry enough to play on there will be a contest between the Millionaires and the Chicago Nationals at Boulevard park this afternoon. The indications are however that no game will be played and that the big leaguers will pass on to the city to the north without showing the fans what they can do. The members of the Sohe crowd to the number of 9 with Chicago newspaper men arrived in the city yesterday morning and put up at the Alamo.

Sohee seems to have [illegible] a pretty bunch and one that will deserve better than the title of Orphans when the famous games are finished. Chicago is in the hands of the Los Angeles and gaston have had a tendency to lower the pace of the contests and at only a few local knocks have been started in the Windy City.

The team leaves tomorrow morning for Denver where two games will be played with the Colorado. From Denver the team will wend its way eastward in time to open the season with St. Louis on April 16. The following men are registered at the Alamo: Schee, Lowe, Chance, Killing, Dundon, Taylor, Condon, Mertes, Hoff, White, Hanlon, Evers, Tinker, Casey, Slagle, Dobbs, Tone, McDonald, Reid and White.

Chicago Reserve Team Wins Game Wednesday

The Colored reserve basketball team had no trouble last night in defeating the High school team in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. The game ended with the score 11 to [illegible] in favor of the colored team. Two members of the High school faculty, Messrs. Dubach and Hill, played on the High school team. Messrs. Stillwell and Klepinger and Shaw of the college were the officials. Following is the line up of the two teams:

College		High School
Shaw	Forward	Fowler
French	Forward	Mintz
Klepinger	Forward
Inger (Capt.)	Center	Dubach
Bailey	Guard	Skinner
Merritt	Guard	Hill

Field goals—Fowler 1, French 1, Shaw 1, Baker 1, Klepinger 1. Foul throws—French 1, Dubach 1, by mistake.

[illegible] Meet Wednesday

The position of President Sexton of the Western league in regard to clean ball playing is pretty well known. A number of fast men are among the baseball birds today who are working more to uphold the national game than the president of the Western league. President Sexton comes north this season stronger than ever against rowdyism and ungentlemanly conduct on the diamond and says he will do all in his power to carry out his ideas in that respect by the imposition of heavy fine when necessary. He has ordered the following notice to be posted in conspicuous places about the grounds of the Western league clubs:

"The maintenance and management of an up-to-date ball club is a hard problem with our several club owners and it always is serious in dealing with each club as to how the patronage can be kept up.

"In my opinion nothing goes so far towards pleasing patrons of the game as gentlemanly conduct and clean ball playing. It has been my desire and to that end I have exhausted considerable effort in trying to get the very best umpires that could be secured for this league and I feel that I have selected a staff of reliable and capable men. I have instructed the umpires to enforce the rule fairly and impartially manly on all occasions and I bespeak the cooperation and cheerful compliance in the rulings of the umpires on the part of each club manager, captain and player throughout the circuit.

"The rules for the government of the game are very explicit and cover all points perfectly and it is expected that all players are conversant with said rules. Rule 57 says, there shall be no appeal from any legal decision of the umpire. Rule 58 says under no circumstances shall any player be allowed to dispute a decision of the umpire in which only an error of judgment is involved and in case an illegal decision is rendered only the captain of the team shall be allowed to protest.

"Should it become necessary for the umpire to impose any fine upon players I shall insist upon the prompt payment of same and in all aggravated cases I shall, in addition to any fine imposed by the umpire, suspend or discipline the offender for such period of time or in such manner, as the offense seems to merit."

President M. H. Sexton of the Western league and M. J. Shannon of the Denver club came down from Denver Saturday to witness the ball game scheduled for today between the Millionaires and the Chicago Nationals. The game failed to materialize but the two baseball men spent the day visiting Los Angeles. A ride to the park was taken out to Boulevard park for the benefit of Mr. Summ as who had never seen the grounds. Both gentlemen left Denver last night and will leave this city for their homes in the east.

MILL AT PRESCOTT CLOSED.

By Associated Press

Prescott, Ariz., April 2.—The Pollard mill closed down today throwing over 400 men out of employment. Although the company contemplated changing the process of treating ore it is given out that the close down was principally the result of the eight hour law passed by the Legislature. Other companies it is said are contemplating the same action as an eight-hour day with a 10 hour wage schedule it is claimed will increase the expenses of operating 25 per cent.

SENATE FINANCE COMMITTEE ON INTERSTATE BILL

By Associated Press

Denver, April 2.—The senate finance committee held a meeting tonight and listened to statements from Attorney General Miller and former Governor Charles S. Thomas relative to the probable effect upon the pending Colorado water suit in the United States court of the passage of the bill appropriating $50,000 for work in state canal No. 1. The attorney general took the position that the passage of the bill would sustain one of the Kansas claims that Colorado is proceeding to appropriate water notwithstanding the suit before the court. In view of this he thought the interests of the state might possibly be prejudiced before the court. The loss of the suit he declared would certainly be followed by the filing of similar suits by other adjoining states and the result would be incalculable damage to the agricultural interests of Colorado. Under these circumstances he thought it would be very unwise to take any chances of prejudicing the case by an appropriation of this time for an enterprise which had been declared impracticable by experts.

Ex-Governor Thomas took the opposite view of the case. He considered it absurd to believe that the federal court would be influenced in its decision by the passage of the bill.

The committee finally decided to instruct its chairman, Senator Hill, to appoint a sub-committee of four lawyers to investigate the matter and report. The sub-committee was not announced tonight.

WILL BEGIN WORK ON THE HAGUE PROTOCOLS

By Associated Press

Washington, April 2.—Work on the Hague protocols will begin tomorrow. A meeting has been arranged for 11 o'clock in the morning at the British embassy which will be attended by the diplomatic representatives of the allied powers—Great Britain, Germany and Italy. Certain proposed amendments to the draft of the protocol submitted to the British embassy by Mr. Bowen have been suggested by the allies and these will be discussed tomorrow. It is expected that it will be some days before an agreement is reached.

In addition to Mr. Wayne MacVeagh who will be the chief counsel for the United States and other peace powers at The Hague it is said to be the present intention of the Washington authorities that he shall be assisted by Mr. Bowen who will continue to act in his capacity as Venezuela's plenipotentiary and probably by Mr. Penfield solicitor for the state department who conducted with such success the case of the United States in the Pius fund arbitration last year.

FRAMING

[illegible] and in style. A number of things enter into the right framing of a picture.

There must be harmony in color between the moulding and mat and picture. That's the one important point of all—is the difference between the new style and the old.

Then the width of the moulding and of the mat must be in keeping with the size of the picture. Last, a frame must be well made to stand the test in this climate. The material must be good—first, the lumber that goes into the moulding must be well cured or the frame will warp. To avoid this we use good mouldings. Then the kinks must be well fitted and glued and joined. Otherwise they will draw apart. Good workmanship as well as good materials must enter into the making of a frame.

All these requirements are observed intelligently in our framing establishment.

One Million Acres of Land Lying Between Del Norte and Durango Withdrawn From Settlement.

Special to the Gazette.

Washington, D. C., April 2.—The interior department today ordered withdrawn from public entry about 1,000,000 acres of land lying between Del Norte and Durango, with a view to making a forest reserve for preserving the timber and water supply along the continental divide.

By Associated Press

Washington, April 2.—By direction of the secretary of the interior Commissioner Richards of the general land office today temporarily withdrew from further settlement public lands covering an area of 1,175,000 acres in Colorado. The lands lie between Del Norte and Durango and embrace the San Juan mountains and a portion of the continental divide and constitute the watershed of several important streams.

The residents of the region recently presented to the department a petition urging that this watershed be included within a forest reserve and the temporary withdrawal was made with a view to the examination of the lands in order to determine proper boundaries for a permanent forest reserve.

By Associated Press

Duluth, Minn., April 2.—A commission of Minnesota and Wisconsin men will be appointed to fix up an apparent invasion of these states by each other's territory. The government in improving the St. Louis river for purposes of navigation has materially shortened the route by dredging new straight channels from one point on the old channel to another point thus throwing riparian rights in some instances from the Minnesota side to the Wisconsin side and vice versa. As the war department has no jurisdiction the states and cities interested must effect a compromise.

Much uneasiness seemed to pervade the ranks of the jurors while the peremptory challenges were being made by the attorneys, it being apparent that many of them were anxious to sit in the trial of the case.

There was but one name left in the panel of 100 jurors summoned last Saturday in response to the order of Judge Seeds that of Charles M. Pickett, living at 1211 South Nevada avenue.

The completion of the jury cleared up one of the greatest tasks before the attorneys. The most sensational feature of the case so far developed was in connection with the jury and most of the motions so far argued before the court were connected with it and its make-up. The issue brought up by the jury affidavits, supported by the affidavits of others and the contesting affidavits, required four days for disposition, and the motion to quash the entire venire on account of irregularities in being drawn required two days more. And three days devoted to the examination of the special panel brings the entire time devoted to the securing of the jury up to nine days.

The examination of the jurors summoned however, has been completed and both sides realizing the important part the jury was to play in the determination of the case devoted their best efforts so far to securing a jury satisfactory to them.

Quick Work

In many respects the impaneling of the jury within so short a time was remarkable. The fact of W. S. Stratton's vast estate was thought to be known to every man within the county of El Paso, his death and his will, containing many peculiar bequests, was also supposed to have been almost common knowledge. It was freely prophesied on all sides that it would be almost impossible to secure a jury without having to examine nearly every available jurymen in the county. And yet in the face of these predictions made by men well acquainted with the history of the case and with the people of the county a jury has been secured from the first panel of 100 summoned and there were 30 or 40 of them excused for one cause or another.

Now Comes the Evidence

From now on the case will settle down to the routine of the introduction of evidence which at times it is expected will be very sensational, as the duty of the contestants requires them to prove the unsound mind of W. S. Stratton, the harboring of insane delusions regarding his son, J. Harry Stratton, and the existence of an undue influence over his actions at the time of making his will.

Victory for Estate

The most signal victory in the Stratton will contest so far achieved was yesterday credited to the attorneys for the estate. By the ruling of Judge William P. Seeds they were declared to have the burden of proof and the right to make the opening and the closing address to the jury. The winning of this point overshadows the victory on the motion to quash the original jury panel on the ground that they had been fixed in connection with it. It overshadows it for the reason that as it is conceded by both sides the most important stage of the contest is all have been reached when the evidence is all in and the arguments are to be made to the jury.

The long looked for battle over the burden of proof was started the first thing upon the opening of court yesterday morning. As soon as the bailiff had declared the court to be in session for the day Senator Patterson was on his feet asking the attention of the court. "In the matter of the burden of proof your honor," he stated, "it is the desire of the attorneys for the contestant that it should be settled before the peremptory challenges are made to the jury. Under the right which we claim to open and close the arguments in this case we also claim the right to offer the first challenge to the jury as now drawn."

Charles W. Waterman, for the heirs, said that the heirs had no objection to having the point determined at that time and the fight was on.

Judge L. M. Goddard of counsel for the estate made the opening argument for the heirs. He read numerous authorities in support of the contention that the proponents of the will had the burden of the proof and therefore the right to open and close. He cited cases from the English reports from the reports of the states of New Hampshire, Arkansas, Illinois, Alabama, Delaware, Wisconsin, Nebraska and from the United States supreme court. He also read at length from opinions by Judge Cooley of Michigan who is regarded as one of the greatest legal authorities in America.

Judge Goddard's Arguments

The cases cited declared in substance that the proponents of the will had the right to open and close for the reason that the will in question had first to be offered in evidence before there was anything to contest and until the will had been offered there was nothing before the court which required any evidence from the other side.

"We undoubtedly have the affirmative in this case, your honor," he stated, "the law does not permit of the admission of anything on the part of the attorneys for the contestant, we are compelled to prove our contentions from the very beginning. If the law allowed the other side to admit that the will had been legally executed and that the formalities had been complied with, and then offer evidence to show that notwithstanding their admissions, the will was not a valid will for the reason that the testator was not of sound mind and memory, then we would agree with them that they had the opening and the close. But this is not the case. However, nothing is taken for granted, neither can they say that they will admit them for the purposes of the suit but we are compelled to show everything by proof. The will is not a will and its legality is not established until we can show it, by affirmative evidence, and we cannot show that your honor, unless we first introduce evidence to that effect. In closing I submitted the question to the court for further consideration."

Charles W. Waterman argued for the contestants. He based his contention upon section 1704 of the Colorado statutes and a supreme court decision that had been rendered by Judge Goddard when he was a member of that body which Waterman declared plainly proved that the side he represented was entitled to the opening and the close. He said, in part:

Attorney Waterman's Arguments

"We admit that the law as presented by the counsel for the other side is the law and rule of action in those states where the common law provisions still remain but we are practicing in a state that is governed entirely by the code and when that code makes a provision that conflicts with the common law then we must follow that provision and all the cases in the states will not outweigh our duty to follow our code. We stand on our rights upon the provisions of our code of practice and if we are wrong in our interpretation of the code then we will fall back on the code that the other side have the better of us.

"Section 198 of the Colorado code provides that in all cases where an appeal is taken to the district court from a county court on the probate of a will the proceedings in the district court shall be conducted the same as if the had originally been instituted there. Now the supreme court has construed that section and has decided that when the suit thus brought before the district court shall require the same proof the same as if it had been in the same in fact. The code further declares that the record of the probate of a will shall be taken as conclusive evidence of the legality of that will and it so stands until it is overthrown by evidence from the contestants. The will we have here has been probated in this county and will we have the record of that probate before us. That record is conclusive evidence of its legality and validity until it is proven that it is not valid. Now, if I understand your honor, I would like to ask this question before you suppose that and then in accordance with the record of this. Before you the proponents would select and offer no right are in support of the rights of heirs. Would your honor compel the attorneys for the estate to introduce evidence in support of the will or would you not dismiss the suit in the first for the reason that there was no evidence upon which it could be tried?

"We say the affirmative for the reason that if we must do so we would be thrown on the court because we had not rested our case. It is upon this ground that we ask to be allowed to go to the jury and to get back to the jury."

Noon recess was taken upon the conclusion of Mr. Waterman's remarks and upon resumption he asked for an hour's longer within which to prepare a reply to argument for the estate. The request was granted and Judge Seeds adjourned court until 2 o'clock.

Rather Dramatic

The remarks were somewhat dramatic and at times dangerous. Judge Goddard said: "No judge of a county court or any court has any right to overrule an act of judicial importance by reversing or overturn the decisions of the court of appeals. The decisions of that court are the law until they are overruled by the supreme court or by the act of congress itself.

"It is upon such a decision as that that my friend Waterman has based his argument and I want to say and to state publicly that I am testing such decision should stand as the law of this state. I believe that judge [illegible] and your honor has given you the law on this case and I could do nothing but add to it and to add all to your attention again. I shall not go into it again for the reason that I presume both sides know that your honor knows the law on will long as the case you have to read the cases cited here for I feel sure that you will read them if you do not know the law."

The Court's Decision

With the close of Judge Goddard's argument Judge Seeds leaned over the bench and looking squarely at the attorneys on both sides who were waiting anxiously for his decision stated: "The proponents in this case have the opening and the close as the have the burden of proof. They will first introduce evidence making out a prima facie case the contestants will follow with their case and the estate will then introduce evidence in contravention thereof."

With these words Judge Seeds reminded that the last speech to the jury should express the side of the estate. A sigh showing the extent of the defeat suffered by the attorneys for the contestant, was expressed following by "We save our exceptions, your honor."

AUTO RACES PROHIBITED BY THE PREFECT AT NICE

By Associated Press

Nice, April 2.—Contradictory reports were circulated yesterday concerning the injuries of Baron De Pallange, who acted as chauffeur for Count Zoborowski, and led to the announcement of his death. It developed today, however, that the baron did not succumb to his injuries, and the physicians in attendance express the hope that he will recover if complications do not set in. He sufficiently recovered today to give details of the accident. The baron said Count Zoborowski was extremely nervous and made the mistake of going at a speed of 90 kilometers, which rendered it impossible to turn sharply at the point in the road where it was necessary to do so. As a result of the accident the prefect today put a stop to the further use of the Nice La Turbie course, and has prohibited a mile race which was to have taken place next Sunday on the Promenade Des Anglais.

A TICKET OF LONG TIME RESIDENTS AND TAXPAYERS

THERE has never been a ticket presented for the suffrages of the voters of Colorado Springs that contained as many names of long-time residents and taxpayers as that now nominated by the Democratic party this spring.

Every person who pays taxes will readily see the value and advantage of such a ticket as an influence in shaping municipal policies in a wise and economical manner.

Take the list as it runs:

Van E. Rouse, mayor, a resident here for 20 years, a business man and taxpayer. Extended experience in city affairs.

W. H. Heegland, treasurer, a resident of Colorado Springs for 28 years, a taxpayer. Four years' experience as city treasurer. For many years in confidential capacity for Colorado Springs mining men. Now in mining business.

E. H. Carrington, candidate for clerk, a resident here for 13 years, has a good knowledge of municipal affairs. Now employed by the Gazette.

Daniel Thatcher, candidate for auditor, a resident for four years. Is now and has been employed by some of the largest concerns in the city as secretary and auditor.

R. L. Hubbard, candidate for city attorney, a resident for 10 years and taxpayer. Has been county judge and is an able and conscientious lawyer.

William Garstin, for engineer, has resided here for 20 years, qualifications for the office unquestioned.

ALDERMANIC CANDIDATES.

Frank Waters, Ward one, a resident of this city for 21 years, a taxpayer for years; formerly in the cattle business, now in the mining business, successful and energetic.

A. D. Jones, Ward two, a resident and taxpayer for 15 years; was president of Pharmacist Mining company, is now engaged in mining business, a good business man.

S. S. Bernard, Ward three, a resident for 15 years, engaged in mercantile and mining business, a heavy taxpayer and good business man, president El Paso Gold Mining company.

Thomas Stark, Ward four, a resident for 20 years, property owner and heavy taxpayer; has been engaged in cattle business, now in mining business, heavily interested in Cripple Creek.

W. F. Ridenour, Ward five, a resident here for 14 years; in painting and paper hanging business; property owner and taxpayer.

E. L. Rice, Ward six, a resident for six years; a taxpayer; in hotel business.

E. H. Kirk, Ward seven, a resident of Colorado for many years; taxpayer and property owner; resident of ward nine years. In printing business.

E. W. Frost, Ward eight, a resident of Colorado Springs for 30 years; a taxpayer for 27 years, knows the water system of the city better than any other one man; thoroughly conversant with municipal affairs.

The above facts concerning the personnel of the Democratic ticket are submitted for the consideration and judgment of every candid voter and taxpayer in this city.

FRANK A. WATERS.

THE candidate on the Democratic ticket for alderman in the First ward, should receive the vote of every man and woman in that ward who wishes its interests guarded and fought for if necessary.

There is no man on either ticket who labors with more energy for any object in hand than does Mr. Waters.

He is active, capable and trustworthy. Having been for many years a resident of this county, we know he would bring to the position of his ward and the city a business training of value and an abundance of zeal and energy. Everyone who knows him will vote for him, and everyone knows him.

The Colorado senate should by all means defeat the appropriation of $50,000 for a state canal. This project has been carefully investigated by many of the best irrigation experts of the state and even if it were the duty of the state to engage in any such enterprise this should certainly not be one of them.

The press reports these days carry many reports of strikes. Most fortunately the strike situation carries a ray of light in the fact that no one strike is contagious, so that business which is crippled in one section of the country is booming again in another.

The real issue in the municipality in this city is between Ira Harris and Van E. Rouse. One or the other of them will be elected. Let no man who honestly desires to see a change in the policy of running the city think his vote away.

President Roosevelt [illegible] his stand in favor of a third term. [illegible] on the "third term" issue. If he [illegible] he will [illegible] after his term [illegible]

THE PULSE OF THE HIVE.

[illegible] of this town [illegible] "third term" the inroads made upon it by [illegible]

A [illegible] prepared and will be mailed in the [illegible] to all members of the party telling them of the [illegible] which [illegible] the party if the Democratic candidates [illegible] to be successful. The substance of the circular is that if the Democratic candidates win in the coming election, it means that El Paso county will go Democratic at the next election, and that the state will surely go Democratic when voting day comes around again.

Now isn't that a pitiful plea for an organization of full-grown men to put forth?

They are unable to win on the merits of their candidates, they see the danger into which they have fallen through corrupt methods, and hence, their only resource is to apply the party whip and either scare or cajole the independent members of the party into line.

We are very much mistaken in the attitude of the people of this city if they do not see through this transparent humbug.

We have in Colorado Springs a business proposition. We are to elect some men to carry it forward. The Democratic organization has named men who are not radical partisans. Some of them, indeed, are Republicans, on national policies, but they believe that an absolute change is needed, and hence, are willing to fight and work under the Democratic banner to bring this about. They realize that the only way that a change is made possible is through the Democratic organization. That is why there is going to be much independent voting at the next election. The voters are not voting so much for the Democratic ticket as they are for the men upon their ticket.

And yet because we wish to elect a new sort of a mayor and a different kind of a treasurer, and a better class of aldermen and other officials, the cry is raised that the Republican supremacy is menaced in the county of El Paso and the state of Colorado.

The machine has made one omission in its circular. It should have declared that if Van E. Rouse is elected mayor of Colorado Springs, there will not be the slightest use in nominating a Republican candidate for the presidency of the United States next year.

WILL THERE BE REFORM FROM WITHIN?

THE STATEMENT that the Republican ring which now controls the city hall would itself take the necessary action to prevent further irregularities and to bring those of its members to justice who have already proved unfaithful to their trusts is hardly borne out by the facts.

When the time came to swear to an information charging Coray with embezzlement, Alderman Stark, Republican, refused to sign it. Alderman Capell, another Republican, absented himself in cowardly fashion when the time came for signing. It was left for Alderman Clark, an Independent Republican, who declined to run for office again on the Republican ticket, and who once found it necessary to resign his office as a protest against the misconduct of his Republican associates, to sign this information and thus set in motion the legal processes by which the offending official should be brought to justice.

This, we take it, is a fair sample of the way in which Republican leaders and officeholders are going to regulate and reform the corruption in their own party. Every candid citizen knows that there is not the slightest hope for a rigid, sincere and honest investigation of the members of that party by those who are seeking now, or have sought in the past, favors at its hands.

The only way to bring about an era of absolute honesty at the city hall is to make a clean sweep of the officials who are now in office or who are seeking office through the instrumentality of the Republican bosses.

E. H. Kirk, the candidate of the Democrats for alderman in Ward seven, is one of the most active, energetic and honest men that has been named for any city position. Mr. Kirk has lived sufficiently long in the ward and has paid taxes in the city for a period long enough to know its needs and requirements. Should he be elected to the office, he will go in, not as a member of a clique, but as an independent citizen whose only ambition is to serve his constituents faithfully and to see that his ward gets proper recognition in city affairs. He will take his orders from nobody except the people.

There appears to be a good deal of confusion of names, especially over the mayoralty in the present election. Some voters are apparently confusing Van E. Rouse, the Democratic candidate for mayor, with F. L. Rouse, Republican chairman of the board of county commissioners. Van E. Rouse is not the owner of the Rouse block, and has never held public office other than his term as alderman from Ward two in the city of Colorado Springs.

The outlook for an abundance of water for irrigation purposes in Colorado this summer is so good that farmers all over the state are sowing much larger acreages of crops than has been the case for several years hitherto. It demonstrates once more that water is one of the most useful and valuable products of the Colorado mountains.

W. F. Ridenour, the Democratic candidate for alderman in Ward five, is pledged to do all in his power to secure improvements not only for one end of his ward, but for all parts of it. The people of Precinct 44 are anxious to have something done in that end of the ward and Mr. Ridenour will see that they get it.

The Realty exchange of this city shows its public spirit by urging the general assembly to make an appropriation for a Colorado World's fair exhibit that shall be commensurate with the dignity and importance of the Centennial state.

The people of Ward six this year have a splendid opportunity of ridding themselves of the domination of boss-ism in its most offensive form, by voting for E. L. Rice, the Democratic candidate for alderman.

The next mayor of the city will be Van E. Rouse or Ira Harris. Let no one be misled upon that point.

EFFECT OF CARELESSNESS.

Cape Town is crowded with unemployed clerks and others from the Rand, who are unable to exist any longer, owing to the conditions that prevail. Many are returning to England thoroughly disillusioned of the hopes they had in coming out. The banking institutions are importing clerks into the new provinces at $60 a month, a ridiculously inadequate figure, when the cost of living is taken into account. Perhaps worst of all is that fact that Cape merchants who have been enriched by the expenditure of the war are taking advantage of the labor glut to bring down wages. Wages are in many cases now down to the level of the low-paid [illegible], notwithstanding the disastrous prices that are [illegible]. There is the greatest indignation felt, and clerks, shop assistants and others who intend going out to settle are [illegible] for the [illegible] to alter their arrangements.—(Philadelphia Ledger.

The one thing agin' me is that I forgot to put up in the sky,

Why it was that he traveled around in other men's worn-out things.

And mebby they'll have to grab over there on the other shore,
But I'll bet you the lazy chap that's ragged and dead to care,
Will have some explainin' to do when they wake him up over there.

I'll bet you it's never bought a harp over yonder yit;
But I guess it'll hardly do for a chap to be too blame sure
That glory's waitin' him just because he keeps bein' poor."

Daughters of the Republic.

Two Daughters of the Republic, as they may well be called, have just passed away, who, in their different spheres, each typified in a peculiar sense, the highest types of American womanhood.

One of these was Alice Freeman Palmer, once president of Wellesley, long associated with the management of the Woman's department of the University of Chicago, holding other important official positions in education, and identified with the cause of education in general as an adviser and as a wise and eloquent advocate. Such conspicuity as was acquired by this most womanly woman was forced upon her by the circumstances of a career distinguished by keen intelligence, energy, good will, devotion and by modesty no less. Conspicuity as a means of self-gratification was a thing unthought of in her busy and eager life. Her powers of persuasion by speech were great, but were solely a means for the accomplishment of good. After hearing Mrs. Palmer address an educational audience, one critic said that for the time, it seemed that oratory must be explicitly a feminine accomplishment, there was in her delivery such grace, dignity, fire and persuasiveness. It is in accordance with her own activities that the friends of such a woman should attempt to memorialize her personality and influence by many endowments rather than by a single one.

At nearly the same time has passed away a woman of America who never was called by duty to public prominence and yet whose whole life was dedicated to patriotism and to the refining and uplifting of her fellow men and women. Long before the civil war, her heart was enlisted in the cause of the downtrodden, and throughout her many years not merely individuals in need but whole classes of the needy and the oppressed received her inspiring and substantial sympathy and help. Even her aesthetic tastes—especially in music—were not selfishly indulged, she performed an unusual part in giving to the community that in which she herself took such keen pleasure. There was something so gentle, so tender, so generously affectionate, and, too, so heroic in her personality that it is no wonder that she was the center of a group of prominent men and women—some of them closely related to herself—who have helped to share the destiny of the republic, names like those of the Lowells, of Curtis, of Hale, and of the family of her high-minded and patriotic husband. Her interest in public affairs remained unabated to the last. That recent hostilities in Venezuela should have been put a stop to by the successful suggestion of arbitration was a keen satisfaction to her. Her greatest regret in recent years was that the attitude of the American government toward the Filipinos seemed inconsistent with the principles of freedom in which our nation was founded.

It may be that her statue will adorn no public place, yet she would be well contented if, when future generations gaze upon St. Gaudens's monument, on Boston common, to the memory of the intrepid, the devoted Robert Gould Shaw, it should not be forgotten that he was the son of a woman who truly loved her fellow men, and was capable of sacrifice in behalf of the cause of human liberty.—(Topics of Time in March Century.

SHORT STORIES

His View of It.

Judge Rufus B. Smith of the superior court, was journeying east some time ago, accompanied by his young son. Desiring to smoke he went forward to the smoking car, as the room for that purpose on the sleeper was small and nearly all the space occupied.

After he had been enjoying his cigar some minutes it occurred to the judge that he might be setting a bad example for his son. To prevent this he said:

"My boy, if I were you I would not smoke when I became a man."

"Why, papa?"

"Well, it is a bad habit, and, besides it might injure your health, and, again it is expensive."

The child was silent for about a minute. Then he said:

"Papa, I think when I am a man I will smoke, and tell my little boy not to do so."—(Cincinnati Enquirer.

She Lasted Two Days.

She begged to be hired. "Missus, take me!" she pleaded. "I can do anything. I ain't afraid of work. I'm all alone in the world. Nobody to worry me. I want a good home and small wages. I'll wash, clean house, wait on table and cook. I'm a splendid cook. Where did you come from?" "I'm from Welsh." She was engaged principally because she was ungainly and unhandsome, and withal willing. She arrived Saturday afternoon at 3. At half past 4 she had the toothache. The mistress recommended holding cloves in her mouth. Sunday morning her shoulder pained her and she had the shivers. She was not permitted to try her hand at cooking. Sunday evening she waited on the table. In removing the plates and dishes she grabbed them up by the armful. As she shook with a handful of knives, forks and spoons she resembled Jove and the thunderbolts. Monday morning she looked at the family wash and immediately got desperately ill. "Missus you—you don't have as much as this all the time?" Certainly that is a light wash. Her illness became intense.

At Sunday's dinner, two friends being present, the conversation turned on the various brands of oatmeal and the value of the food in pastelds. The lady from Welsh listened. The oatmeal box was left on the sideboard, after an examination, to disprove the statement of a guest that he had saved coupons for five months and got a set of handsome dishes containing 75 pieces. Monday morning the master of the house discovered oatmeal at his plate. He had whetted an appetite for waffles and ham with good old ham gravy. "Take this stuff away!" he yelled frantically. "I have long ago ordered it off my dietary." The lady from Welsh grabbed the dish and fled kitchenward, when the mistress, hearing faint groans, followed her. The sudden illness was now alarming. In her anxiety to cut the whole of the oatmeal to get it out of the master's way, the poor creature had covered it half an inch thick with what looked like granulated sugar and was sputtering madly over the first mouthful. "Why did you put hominy in your oatmeal?" the mistress asked. "Hominy? Hominy? Lordy! I'm dying! I thought it was sugar!" In five minutes she had packed up her things and was on the 10 intelligence-office-bound.—(New York Press.

The Race War.

Washington. The United States weather office at Pianola, Miss., has been closed.

Recently the leading men of the place tarred and feathered the observer because he predicted the same kind of weather for whites and blacks, and rode him on a rail out of town. He appealed to the department and was told not to go back. The president has been besought by members of congress and others to order two kinds of weather predicted at Pianola, but he declines to truckle as he terms it to the mob element. Feeling at Pianola is very bitter. In that climate it is difficult to live without weather and there is open talk of throwing the Mississippi delegation to Senator Hanna in 1904.—(Life.

He moved up to the waiting cabby.

POLITICAL NOTES

The Rhode Island and Delaware cases do not show the smallest two states in very pleasant light, says the Pittsburg Dispatch (dem.). But when we consider some other states it does not seem size has much to do with it. Indeed, the comparison suggests that the smaller states are still in a primary if not primeval state. They do not appear to have mastered the principle that it is cheaper to buy a legislature than it is elected than to buy the voters.

The Concord Monitor (dem.) points out the parallel between the Bean bill reported in New Hampshire last week and the Haines bill of New York. It provides for state control and limitation upon the number of licenses to be issued. It is being criticised because it grants local option to the towns, but not to the cities. The Monitor has every reason to claim that the bill is in promise before a state for that purpose, and urges its passage as it stands.

One of the most interesting legislative hearings of the year in Rhode Island was on the bill to store local option on Block Island. It will be remembered that last year, when the people of Block Island voted against license, the legislature acting at the request of in the interest of saloon hotel keepers passed a special law exempting Block Island from the operation of the local option law, and then the city council proceeded to grant licenses. At the hearing on the repeal of the special law, the council itself was represented by a committee of five, headed by Congressman Richard Malbone, who addressed the committee.

[illegible] uncrec[illegible]ce's o[illegible] the M[illegible]ca Past Now on Exhibition at Palmer Hall May Become a Permanent Home Here.

Cecil A. Deane, curator of the State Historical society, and one of the best-known students of the prehistoric inhabitants of this section of the west, will exhibit in Colorado Springs today and tomorrow what is probably the most valuable collection of Aztec and cliff-dweller relics in the United States.

Mr. Deane has had exceptional opportunities to gather the evidences of what science recognizes as the earliest settlements in this part of the country and probably of the world. He accompanied General Powell of the United States geological survey and for three years studied and explored what is left of the cliff dwellers and the Aztecs and Toltecs. Since then he has made many trips to southwestern Colorado and northern New Mexico and has spent much time in searching for the buried city the Indians claim exists near the lava fields. He has some artistically-fashioned, brilliantly-colored articles of pottery, showing the colors as vividly today as possibly a thousand years ago; he has the cleverly made millstones used for the grinding of grain; the stone mortars and pestles, axes, hatchets, arrow and spear-heads, stone knives, needles of bone, sandals, idols, balls, skulls, etc., in all 900 articles that bring the dead past to life again.

The exhibit will be open to the public at the museum at Palmer hall at Colorado college this afternoon and tomorrow. A movement is on foot looking to the acquisition by the college of the entire collection. It is pointed out that vandals are rapidly stripping the ruins of the relics and all remaining traces of the past will soon disappear. The value of such a collection not only to the college but the scientific world is apparent, and a determined effort will be made to secure, for it a permanent home at Colorado Springs.

[illegible] Trains W[illegible] Delay[illegible]

There were no trains in from the west last night on the Denver & Rio Grande. A snowslide near Breckenridge completely blocked traffic from the west and No. 2 and No. 4 which were both posted on the bulletin boards as several hours late early in the evening were later annulled. The next train, No. 16, due here at 4:35 this morning is not expected until late today. A stub will be run up from Pueblo.

Nothing could be learned at the depot last night as to the extent of the slide, but it was given out that no damage had been done and that outside of a long delay in the running of trains the road would not be inconvenienced. No. 2 is due here at 1:26 p. m. and No. 4 is due at 6:51 p. m.

The snow storm which fell yesterday was not confined to the vicinity of Colorado Springs but was general throughout the state. At Palmer Lake and Denver and along the front range north of Palmer Lake besides a heavy fall of snow there was considerable wind and it is expected that drifts will pile up during the night unless the wind falls. The snow melted rapidly in this city but further to the west at Cripple Creek, Leadville and other places cold weather prevailed to a considerable extent.

In Denver a heavy rain fell at an early hour yesterday morning but turned into a blinding snowstorm driven by a high wind which continued during the entire day. Further to the north at Greeley and other localities it is stated that at least six inches of snow fell during the day.

The precipitation in the Pike's Peak region continued all day and nearly a foot of snow fell at Lake Moraine, and last night at a late hour it was still snowing along the foothills and higher up in the mountains. The Cog road people who intended to start shoveling out the drifts along the line, accomplished but little and nothing further will be done until the storm ceases.

[illegible] Trees W[illegible] Today

The board of trustees of the public library will hold their regular monthly meeting this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the library on Bijou street. This meeting was announced for yesterday afternoon, but the first Friday in each month is the regular meeting day. It is expected that all the members of the board will be present at this meeting, as business of considerable importance is to be taken up. In all probability the board will act upon the recommendations made by the special committee in regard to the site for the proposed Carnegie library, and will formally accept the site offered by General Palmer. As soon as the site is accepted, word will be sent to Mr. Carnegie stating that a location has been secured and that the city has guaranteed the required $5,000 for maintenance. Mr. Carnegie will be asked if there are special requirements in regard to the building, and then an architect will be secured to draw the plans for the building. The board intends to get in communication with Mr. Carnegie at once and push the matter as rapidly as possible.

[illegible] Bodies [illegible] Kan[illegible] [illegible] New Mex[illegible]

The remains of Nicholas H. Ritter, who was killed in an accident at Raton, New Mexico, were received here this morning and were taken to the undertaking rooms of Carrington & McCaffery where the funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon, according to present arrangements. A brother of the dead man at Lacrosse, Wis., is en route here and the funeral arrangements postponed until tomorrow afternoon, awaiting his arrival. George W. Trammitz of Denver, brother-in-law of Mr. Ritter, arrived in the city yesterday to look after the arrangements for the funeral.

Mr. Ritter was night yardmaster at Raton for the Santa Fe. He was just completing his work at an early hour yesterday morning and was attempting to make a switch connection when his foot was caught in some manner, throwing him underneath the engine which, together with four cars, passed over him, mutilating his body almost beyond recognition.

Mr. Ritter was about 35 years of age and leaves a wife and two children who live in this city.

Masons W[illegible] Meeting [illegible]

The committee appointed by El Paso lodge No. 13, A. F. and A. M. to look up the Masonic Temple proposition, will hold a meeting this afternoon to make preliminary arrangements for organizing a stock company and to discuss various propositions that have been presented during the week. Each member of the committee has been active in making investigations since the committee was appointed and each will have an interesting report to make. It is understood that the committee will make a report of progress, both as to plans for the proposed building and the ways and means of erecting it, and the locations which have been investigated.

The committee is confident of its ability to make the project a success as it is receiving encouragement on every hand, almost every Mason in the city being in favor of the erection of the temple.

[illegible] Suit [illegible] Water [illegible]

A suit for damages in the sum of $15,000 was filed in the office of the clerk of the district court yesterday by the Colorado Trading & Transfer company against school district No. 1 of Teller county.

The petition sets forth an agreement alleged to have been entered into between the company and the school district whereby the school district agreed to purchase coal from the plaintiff for the period of one year at the rate of $6.50 a ton.

This agreement, it alleges, was entered into February 8, 1902, and was carried out until May 21. The petition then alleges that the defendant refused to take any more coal but instead, purchased from another company.

The plaintiff states that it has been damaged to the extent of $15,000 as a result of this alleged failure to live up to the terms of the contract and asks that judgment be given in that amount.

[illegible] Good Government People Make Accusations Against Supporters of Independent Ticket Now Going into Court.

A complaint sworn to by E. J. Nugent of Colorado City, candidate for alderman from Ward eight, on the Good Government ticket, will be presented to Judge Seeds this morning before the opening of the Stratton will case petitioning him to cause County Clerk Reed to strike from the registration list a number of names claimed to have been improperly registered in Precinct 8 in Colorado City. The names of the parties are set forth in the petition.

The cause of action arises from a change in residence of about 20 voters from Precincts 5 and 7 in Ward six to Precinct 8 in Ward eight, and it is claimed that the change was made by parties unknown, with fraudulent intent. The complaint will state that these parties were legally registered voters in Precincts 5 and 7 prior to March 24, and that a change in residence was made since that date without proper vouchers and, therefore, in an illegal manner, and that the change was made with the idea of defeating said Nugent in the coming election April 7.

While open accusations are made that the supporters of the independent ticket are responsible for the alleged fraudulent action no names are given as parties to the fraud except the voters whose names are included to be stricken from the registration list.

It is claimed in behalf of the voters in question that they have been residents of Colorado City for a long time and that the changes in residence were made in the proper manner on the poll books.

W[illegible] [illegible] Meet

The next regular meeting of the Winter Night club will be held Tuesday evening, April 14. It is expected that the session will be held at the Antlers unless different arrangements are made between now and the date named. The last meeting was held at the El Paso club, the members of the Winter Night club being entertained there. No arrangements have as yet been made for the program, but an announcement will shortly be made. Topics of live interest will be discussed, and special preparation will be made to make the meeting one of the most interesting of the year. It has not been decided whether these meetings will be continued during the summer months or not, but the general sentiment is in favor of making the sessions a permanent feature of the city's life, especially in the winter.
